

OHIO UNIVERSITY
EDWIN WATTS CHUBB
LIBRARY

ATHENS • OHIO

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2010 with funding from
Lyrasis Members and Sloan Foundation

190

190
CHAPTER XXVII.
The American Union.

CHAPTER XXV
An Act, establishing an University in the town of Athens.

WHEREAS instructions for the liberal education of youth are essential to the progress of arts and sciences, important to morality, virtue and religion, friendly to the peace, order and prosperity of society, and honorable to the government that encourages and patronises them: Therefore,

Sec. 1. BE it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Ohio, That there shall be an university instituted and established in the town of Athens, in the ninth township of the fourth range of landships, within the limits of the tract of land purchased by the Ohio Company of Associates, by the name and style of the "Ohio University," for the instruction of youth in all the various branches of liberal arts and sciences, for the promotion of good education, virtue, religion and morality, and conferring all the degrees and literary honors in said institution.

an University in the town of Athens

The Magazine of The Ohio University Alumni Association

Editor

ROBERT W. MCCREANOR, '48, MS '49

Sports Editor

JACK GILBERT, '52

Student Writers

NANCY LANPHEAR, '53

KEN JACOBSON, '54

Publisher

CLARK E. WILLIAMS, '21

In This Issue

Sesquicentennial Plans Set for 1954

University gets ready for year-long birthday celebration

On and About the Green

Freshman enrollment up — Korean vets on campus

The Faculty

State symbol designer is member of Sesqui art committee

The Bobcats

Bobcats win first four — 1930, '31, '32 teams hold reunion

On the Alumni Front

Cleveland Women map year's program — Club scholarships listed

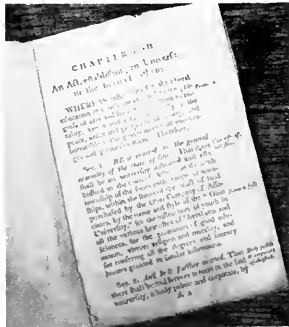

Speaking of Alumni

Med school professor retires — Lumberman cited

Alumni in the Armed Forces

Wings for three — Graduate appointed chaplain

Here and There Among the Alumni

THE COVER

There's nothing "scenic" about this month's cover. No old and familiar spot on the campus is pictured there. But what is shown antedates all physical aspects of the University. Even so, it came after (and because of) great men who dreamed of and worked for a university in the Ohio Country many years before legislative action was taken. This month's cover is a reproduction of part of the act of the General Assembly of Ohio that on Feb. 18, 1804, "chartered" Ohio University. The picture was made by Ben Martin, Salisbury, N. C., senior, from the document that is kept in Chubb Library.

OFFICERS AND EXECUTIVE STAFF OF THE OHIO UNIVERSITY ALUMNI ASS'N.
(Member of the American Alumni Council)

Carr Liggett, '16 President
Alice Edwards Wright, '27 V. Pres. Edward B. Wright, '38 V. Pres.
Clark E. Williams, '21 Sec'y. William H. Fenzel, '18 Treas.

MEMBERS-AT-LARGE OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Peter F. Good, '26 Clifford L. Hughes, '33

EXECUTIVE STAFF

Clark E. Williams, '21 Alumni Secretary
Martin L. Hecht, '46 Associate Secretary
Robert W. McCreanor, '48: '49 Editor, The Ohio Alumni
Geraldine C. Hope, '22 Staff Secretary
Eleanor A. Minster Staff Secretary

THE OHIO ALUMNUS is published monthly from October to June, inclusive, by The Ohio University Alumni Association. THE ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION RATE of $3.50 includes membership in The Ohio University Alumni Association. Remittance should be made by check or money order payable to The Ohio University Alumni Association, PO Box 285, Athens. Entered as second class matter, October 3, 1923, at the post office at Athens, Ohio, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

from the Editor's Desk ...

WE don't know how much history of Ohio University you assimilated while you were on the campus. We do know that a lot of you as freshmen heard the late Prof. Thomas N. Hoover, '05, M-Ped. '06, bring the Ohio Company out of New England, down the Ohio and up the Hocking to Athens. But there's an unavoidable haste, an urgency that precludes concentration, about freshmen orientation (of which Professor Hoover's lecture used to be a part). It's a "tight" schedule that governs those first few days of college life.

So maybe, as your mind wandered from Alumni Memorial Auditorium to other places and to other things that had to be done, you missed names like Manasseh Cutler, Rufus Putnam, Jacob Lindley, Thomas Ewing, Joseph Dana, Artemus Sawyer, John Hunter, James Irvine, William McGuffey, Robert Wilson, and a host of others. Neither, we suspect, did you make a mental filing of dates like February 18, 1804, or 1808 or 1815. These names and dates are all part of the beginning of Ohio University. They're the early history of the oldest University in the Northwest Territory, that wilderness which became the great states of Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, and part of Minnesota.

Maybe when Professor Hoover injected into his narrative the "humanizing" anecdotes that all wise historians inject into their narratives, the new note in his lecture caught your attention. Maybe you recall that very "human" stock of goods (that included three bushels of beans and forty gallons of whiskey) which the directors of the Ohio company authorized for the expedition that was to go from Marietta "up the great Hocking ..." to the proposed site of the town and university.

But we believe that even you who may have virtually memorized Professor Hoover's lecture on the history of Ohio University are going to learn a lot more in the next two years about the birth, the heroic early struggle for survival, and the later surging growth and great contributions of Alma Mater.

YOU will learn the facts and the folklore of a great and truly historic institution. It's a thrilling story, this heroic tale of sacrifice and faith and idealism that gave birth to and nurtured the first university in this nation's first frontier. We feel sure that even those of you who "hated history" will be pleased with your new knowledge of your university. We think you'll get from it a warming sense of kindredship with a past that was noble, men who were magnificent and who were your counterparts in all things that matter, only removed from you by the superficialities of time and customs.

WE HAVEN'T FORGOTTEN: We've had numerous inquiries from readers asking why we haven't solicited them for renewal of their subscriptions to the ALUMNUS and their Association membership. A rearrangement in the program of the Alumni Office for this school year forced a change in the time of this solicitation. In the past you have received our gentle reminder in October; under the new arrangement you will hear from us early in 1953. In the meantime, your ALUMNUS will continue to be sent to you, and you will continue to be a member in good standing in the Ohio University Alumni Association.

This month's Alumnus announces the plans for the University's Sesquicentennial in 1954 and brings you, also, a touch, some of the highlights, of early Ohio University history. The Alumnus will continue to point up that history.

History is of course the basis for our coming Sesquicentennial, a history-marking event; but it isn't the reason, the justification, for it. The Sesquicentennial will delineate the past, but more important it will preview and serve to shape up the future of Ohio University.

In the observance of the Sesquicentennial—a commemoration of a great past and a dedication to a greater future—alumni will play an integral part. As the plans reveal, many events are scheduled particularly for alumni, in all events on the year's program alumni will participate.

WE'RE sorry, but we couldn't prevent it — that changing of the Homecoming Parade time from 1 p.m., as we announced it would be in the October Alumnus, back to the old 10:30 a.m. schedule. The Alumnus was in the mails when it was decided to revert to the morning hour for the parade. Parking and traffic complications, both at the stadium and on Court Street, were the big reasons for the change.

—Letters—

From Britain

I would like to thank you for the Alumnus and all the literature you have sent me. I do appreciate it and look forward to receiving more.

Unfortunately, I have not been able to secure permission to send dollars out of Britain. I am very sorry because of this —

From the President's Office

OUR 150TH BIRTHDAY

In 1954 Ohio University will observe its 150th birthday. Our Sesquicentennial will be a year-long "birthday party" with a full schedule of events in which alumni, students, administration, faculty, and our friends will be invited to participate.

The two themes running through all events will be the University's achievements in past years and the future of a university for free people.

I shall not attempt to outline here either your University's contributions to education in past years or our plans for the celebration. All this will develop in the coming months as we study our history and plan for the future. So far as our past is concerned, it is sufficient to mention in this column that the continuing growth and present well-being are good indications that your University has acquitted itself well in a state and nation known for the variety of demands on higher educational facilities.

Looking ahead, we see an era as challenging as any man has ever faced. We are living in an age of research and science; but even more significant, it is also the age of ideas and ideological conflict. Technological superiority by nations is all too ephemeral; new facts of science, no matter how jealously guarded, can quickly become common property, either through intrigue or a competitor's independent and honest skill. Such is the record of history.

So perhaps more important, as we view the future, is the significance of ideas, in which the prizes are the minds and loyalties of men and women —prizes more lasting, more vital than the knowledge of how to build a bigger bomb.

Your University therefore must continue to serve as a source of truth and a forum for honest debate—the place where young minds can gain "above all wisdom." It must help to provide the understanding that tempers the rashness of men and their arguments so that harmony can exist.

Ohio University must mark its 150 years of history with a pledge to continue to function as an institution of higher learning designed to build a better world.

John C. Baker

I would like to send a subscription to the Alumni Fund. Nevertheless, I am still trying. As soon as I do you shall hear from me . . .

MONICA ROWE, '49
108 Chevening Rd.
London NW 6, England

'The Folks Back Home'

Now while I am just learning to know a totally new environment, it is really good to hear from "the folks back home."

This winter is a thrilling one for me. Thanks to a First-Year Graduate Fellowship from the American Council of Learned Societies, I am able to spend this school year in working for my M.A. at Columbia University. The lectures are stimulating, and I am barely beginning to do all the things I want to do in New York City.

I am also living at International House, a worthwhile experience in itself. I almost never take the elevator without hearing at least one language other than English, and am making friends with students from all over the world.

By June I hope to have completed my work for a degree in the nineteenth century English Novel, and next year will teach. . . . Believe me, I think often of Ohio University and all my friends and experiences there.

MIRIAM BOWERS, '52
465 International House
500 Riverside Drive
New York 27, N. Y.

(For news about Miss Bower, see 1952 class notes picture. Ed.)

Sesquicentennial Plans Se

Year-long celebration will feature four major occasions as Ohio University

OHIO UNIVERSITY, the oldest college in the old Northwest Territory, will celebrate its 150th birthday in 1954 with a year-long program of events focused on four major occasions.

The Sesquicentennial project and the plans for it were approved by the faculty and the University Board of Trustees in June. They were announced by President John C. Baker at the 1952 Homecoming.

As the University celebrated its 1952 Homecoming, it was making plans for the 1954 event, which will be the greatest Homecoming in the University's long history. It is expected to offer the biggest football attraction ever witnessed in Ohio Stadium.

The governor of Ohio and representatives of France, England, and Spain, who with this nation made the early history of the Ohio Country and the Northwest Territory 150-200 years ago, will be asked to help the University celebrate its 150th year. Ohio University's own illustrious alumni will be among nationally-known personalities in education and other fields who will participate in the many events scheduled for the Sesquicentennial.

The birth date of the University postdates that of the state of Ohio by just one year. And as the state concludes its Sesquicentennial, Ohio University will begin its own 150th birthday celebration.

The tenor of the Sesquicentennial will of course be serious, in keeping with the significance of the occasion. But the Executive Committee as well as the special faculty committees for the event are including, for both spice and substance, pageantry and gayety on a grand scale.

President Baker stated that the Sesquicentennial will review as well as celebrate the history of Ohio University. And he emphasized that dominating this year of review and history-marking events will be the main purpose of the Sesquicentennial—a greater Ohio University rendering greater service to the people of Ohio.

The four focal points of the Sesquicentennial will be Founder's Day, February 18; Commencement, June 11, 12, 13, and 14; Alumni Homecoming Weekend, a Friday, Saturday, and Sunday in October yet to be determined; and Ohio Education Days, November 11 and 12.

Founders Day will open the Sesquicentennial. When Ohio University, the state, and the nation observe Founders Day they will be honoring such men as Rufus Putnam and the Rev. Manasseh Cutler, whose names are generally most closely associated with the founding of the University and the opening of the country west of the mountains. But with Putnam and Cutler must go old New England names, names transplanted to Ohio, like Sargent, Mills, Brooke, Cushing, Tupper, Sampson, Patterson, Woodbridge, Williams. Men bearing these names met at the Bunch of Grapes tavern in Boston on March 1, 1786, to form the Ohio Company of Associates, whose purpose was to purchase land in the western country and promote settlement.

These men, realistic dreamers, whose vision and imagination made possible an outpost of learning in a frontier wilderness, insisted that a university, supported by the land, be a part of the empire they were to fashion west of the Alleghenies.

To this original roster can be added Jacob Lindley, Joseph Dana, Artemus

Sawyer, earliest professors at the University, and early trustees who established such names as Backus, Tappan, Wells, Massie, Symmes, Story, Carpenter, Kilbourn, Greene, Darlington, Creighton, Buell, Baldwin, Skinner, Perkins, Ames, Jewett, Wilson, and Scott in the Ohio country and in the history of Ohio University.

Besides Yale, Cutler's alma mater, many New England universities contributed men and ideas to the frontier college in Athens. In a very real sense, Ohio University has meant to the old Northwest Territory what the eastern universities meant to the newly-born United States of America.

From Princeton came Jacob Lindley; from Union College, James Irvine; from Dickinson, Robert Wilson; from Washington College, William McGuffey. All were heads of the young Ohio University.

Joseph Dana, a Dartmouth graduate and brother of a Dartmouth president, and Artemus Sawyer of Harvard were, with Lindley, the first professors of Ohio University.

Many men contributed to

THOMAS EWING, who with John Hunter shared the distinction of being the first graduate of Ohio University. John Hunter died one year after that 1815 Commencement, but Ewing fashioned a long and honorable career as a cabinet officer, United States senator, and adviser to presidents or 1954

observes 150th birthday

Founders Day, Feb. 18, 1954, will mark to the day the 150th year since that historic act of the General Assembly of the then one-year-old state of Ohio which established "an university in Athens." Two years prior to that the territorial legislature had passed an act creating the "American Western University." And when Ohio became a state and the General Assembly created the University little change was made in the original charter granted by the territorial legislature.

The important departure was the changing of the name to "Ohio University."

But before the actual establishment of the University many men, momentous events, and a sustaining ideal had laid the groundwork.

The need for providing public education and the establishment of a university available to all youth in the new country was ever present in the thinking and planning of the group of New England Revolutionary War veterans who settled the Ohio Country. Men like the self-taught soldier-surveyor Putnam

MORE THAN 100 YEARS HAVE PASSED since an artist made this woodcut of Ohio University. The center building (Cutler Hall) was finished in 1818, the "east wing" (Wilson Hall) in 1837, and the "west wing" (McGuffey Hall) in 1839. But according to the artist's interpretation of the scene, the famed Elms had not been planted by William McGuffey, who was president from 1839-43 and the Yale-educated scientist and scholar Cutler consistently demanded that part of the new lands be given to the support of a university and other public buildings.

From this insistence was born Ohio University, the first land-grant college in the nation. It was granted two townships, 46,080 acres, of land in the Ohio Country, and for more than a half century its sole income, except for small student fees, was from the rents and sales of this land.

It was Cutler who insisted, too, that a bill of rights be included in the famous

Ordinance of 1787. And among the articles of that bill of rights was his general statement of policy which said:

"Religion, morality, and knowledge, being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools, and the means of education shall forever be encouraged."

Plans for the University progressed rapidly following its establishment by the General Assembly of the new state, and in June, 1808, (some records say 1809) Ohio University opened its doors to three students and instructor Jacob Lindley, who became first head of the the founding of Ohio University; among them—

MANASSEH CUTLER, statesman and scholar, whose vision helped create an outpost of learning in a frontier wilderness

JACOB LINDLEY, who later became the first head of the University, was the first and the sole faculty member when classes opened with three students almost a century and a half ago

RUFUS PUTNAM, self-taught surveyor and soldier who insisted a land-supported university be included in the plans for settlement of the Ohio Country

University. His students were John Perkins, Brewster Higley, and Joel Abbott.

None of these students graduated, but in 1815 degrees were granted to two students, John Hunter and Thomas Ewing. John Hunter died a year later, but Ewing served a long career in public service and brought renown to his Alma Mater. He was the country's first secretary of the interior, was a secretary of the treasury, United States senator, and confidential adviser to Presidents Lincoln and Johnson.

Among the trustees who gathered in Athens in 1815 for the awarding of the two degrees was Judge Charles R. Sherman, father of the immortal Civil War hero, and later warm friend of Thomas Ewing. The relationship was so close that upon the death of Judge Sherman, Young William Tecumseh Sherman went to live in the Ewing home in Lancaster and later married a Ewing daughter.

The two-room, two-story building in which Jacob Lindley opened classes one bright June morning in 1808 has long since disappeared. But in its stead stands Cutler Hall, completed in 1818, the oldest building in the Northwest Territory erected for the purposes of higher education, and a proper monument to Cutler and the other pioneers who founded the University. Rufus Putnam is signally honored, too, the University's elementary school having been named for him. The largest dormitory for women bears the name of Jacob Lindley. Other buildings through the years have been named to honor early graduates and administrators who so soundly shaped the future of today's Ohio University.

Fifteen men have headed the administration of Ohio University: Lindley, 1808-22; James Irvine, 1822-24; Robert G. Wilson, 1824-39; William H. McGuffey, 1839-43; Alfred Ryors, 1848-52; Solomon Howard, 1852-72; William H. Scott, 1872-83; Charles W. Super, 1883-96 and 1899-1901; Isaac Crook, 1896-98; Alston Ellis, 1901-20; Edwin Watts Chubb (acting) 1920-21 and 1934-35; Elmer B. Bryan, 1921-34; Herman G. James, 1935-43; Walter S. Gamertsfelder, 1943-45; John C. Baker, 1945—. Eight of the first nine were ministers.

President McGuffey was the author of the renowned McGuffey Readers, and it was he who planted the famous McGuffey Elms that are today, with Cutler Tower, landmarks of the Ohio University campus.

Ohio University became a state-supported institution after the Civil War. This action was precipitated by a financial crisis brought on by the failure of the University land to produce the amount of money originally anticipated.

In the years following its change to a state-supported school, Ohio University continued to grow. Around historic Cutler Hall today are more than 100 buildings, representing a physical plant with a replacement value of $25,000,000 and providing education, housing, culture, and recreation for more than 4000 students. (Post-World War II enrollment reached a peak of 5611 in 1948-49.)

Today seven colleges (University, Applied Science, Arts and Sciences, Commerce, Education, Fine Arts, and Graduate) and an extension division offer approximately 1200 courses taught by some 350 faculty members. Modern classroom buildings, libraries, laboratories, a theater, a radio station, and

HELPING TO INSURE THE SUCCESS OF THE ACADEMIC PHASE of the University's 1954 Sesquicentennial will be both the active and the retired deans and school directors. Shown above with President John C. Baker are (left to right, seated): William H. Fenzel, '18, acting dean of the College of Commerce; E. J. Taylor, dean of the College of Applied Science; Edwin Watts Chubb, dean emeritus of the College of Arts and Sciences and twice acting president of the University; Irma Voigt, dean emeritus of women; Walter S. Gamertsfelder, trustee professor of philosophy and ethics, former dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and the Graduate College, and former president of the University; President Baker; Thomas C. McCracken, dean emeritus of the College of Education; George W. Starcher, '26, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences; Vivion M. Roberts, director of the School of Home Economics; L. C. Mitchell, director of the School of Painting and Allied Arts.

Standing (left to right): L. J. Hortin, director of the School of Journalism; Earl C. Seigfred, dean of the College of Fine Arts; Maurel Hunkins, dean of men; Karl Ahrendt, director of the School of Music; Donald R. Clippinger, director of Graduate Studies; Janice Battin Bixler, '26, acting dean of women; George Starr Lasher, former director of the School of Journalism; Claude E. Kontner, director of the School of Dramatic Art and Speech; Rush Elliott, '24, dean of the University College. (Not shown in the picture is George J. Kabot, dean of the College of Education)

Photo by Ben Martin, '53

ays are big events for '54

other facilities are giving the latest training in dozens of career fields—a far cry from Jacob Lindley's first class of three and his curriculum of arithmetic, grammar, Latin, Greek, geography, mathematics, logic, rhetoric, and philosophy.

Lindley and his intrepid group of three would be amazed, too, if they were to see the modern dormitories, auditoriums, gymnasiums, natatorium, and athletic playing fields with which their University today provides for its students' extracurricular as well as curricular welfare.

But the University's continuing attention to the changing needs of its students in the special fields has not lessened the significance of a liberal education at Ohio University. Studies in the liberal arts and sciences, cited for their importance by Cutler 150 years ago, are today a part of each student's program, regardless of his major field.

Photo by Bob Bender, '51

CHARLES ALLEN SMART, noted author, whose historical drama "The Green Adventure" is being written as a Sesquicentennial feature to be presented four times during the year

The governor of Ohio is expected to deliver the principal address when Ohio University celebrates Founders Day, Feb. 18, 1954. This day will also offer the first presentation of the Charles Allen Smart historical drama, The Green Adventure.

The Hoover History of Ohio University is scheduled for release then, and exhibits pertaining to the century-and-a-half of Athens and Ohio University history will be on display on the campus and in Athens stores. Mementoes of the Sesquicentennial will be placed on sale at that time and gifts to the University will be announced and exhibited.

An alumni feature of the event will be an exchange of greetings between

THE OHIO UNIVERSITY SESQUICENTENNIAL EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE examines sample medallions as it makes plans for the 1954 celebration of the University's 150 birthday. Shown with President Baker (standing) at a meeting on the terrace in the garden of the President's Home are, left to right, committee members Thomas M. Wolf, '19, lecturer in commerce; C. N. Mackinnon, professor of English; Vincent Jukes, '30, director of radio and associate professor of dramatic art and speech (chairman of the committee); and Dr. H. T. Houf, professor of philosophy

Photo by Bob Bender, '51, Dick Clapp, '54

President Baker and the president of the Alumni Association and all alumni groups. It is hoped that all four major events will bring back to the campus great numbers of alumni.

Participating in the convocation besides the governor will be President Baker, the chairman of the Board of Trustees, the Alumni Association president, and representatives of the students.

The Green Adventure will have its premiere the evening of Founders Day and will be presented at all three of the other major occasions of the Sesquicentennial. The play is being written for the Sesquicentennial by Mr. Smart, writer-in-residence at Ohio University and author of RFD, Roscommon, and other works.

An event of the Sesquicentennial Commencement that will point up sharply the University's 150 years will be the dedication of the new Student Center, which is scheduled for completion late in 1953 or early in 1954. This $1,500,000 building epitomizes the University's growth from three students to its present thousands and the interest of the trustees, administration, and faculty in all students.

Two new men's dormitories, costing more than $800,000 and recently projected for East Green, will also be dedicated in the Sesquicentennial year.

Alumni will be especially honored in the third big event of the year—Alumni Homecoming Weekend.

Today's close relationship between its

SERVING ON SESQUICENTENNIAL COMMITTEES are: Dr. Elizabeth G. Andersch, associate professor of dramatic art and speech; Dr. John C. Baker, president; Janice Bixler, '26, acting dean of women; Gordon Bush, '24, chairman of the board of trustees; Mrs. Margaret K. Davis, '32, director of residence services; Dr. Walter S. Gamertsfelder, trustee professor of philosophy and ethics; Brandon T. Grover, '19, assistant to the president; Albert C. Gubitz, director of off-campus relations; Martin L. Hecht, '46, associate alumni secretary; William H. Herbert, '25, purchasing agent; Dr. Edward Hadnett, professor of English; L. J. Horton, director, School of Journalism; Dr. H. T. Houf, professor of philosophy; Maurel Hunkins, dean of men; Vincent Jukes, '30, associate professor of dramatic art and speech; Luverne F. Lausche, business manager; C. N. Mackinnon, professor of English; Dwight Mutchler, visiting lecturer in drawing; Paul R. O'Brien, '32, treasurer; Carl Roberts, '27, assistant professor of education; Dr. Earl C. Seigfried, dean, College of Fine Arts; Charles Allen Smart, writer-in-residence; Charles L. Smith, assistant professor of design; Emerson S. Sherow, '29, director of press relations; Dr. A. T. Volwiller, professor of history; Edna M. Way, professor of space arts; Clark E. Williams, '21, alumni secretary; Thomas M. Wolfe, '19, lecturer in commerce; G. S. Lasher, professor of journalism.

Don Pease, Toledo; Emery M. Shaeffer, Dayton; David White, Athens; Donald Way, Akron, all students.

John Bolin, '24, secretary, Athens Retail Merchants Association; Roger L. Connor, vice-president, The McBee Company; Mrs. Gordon Gray (Helen McLaughlin, '32); Carr Liggett, '16, president, Ohio University Alumni Association; Harper Pendry, secretary, Athens Board of Trade; Peter Seel, '36, mayor of Athens; Mrs. H. G. Stalder (Margaret Ullom, '16) of Athens.

ONE OF THE BIG EVENTS of the Sesquicentennial will be the dedication of the new Student Center. Shown here is the architect's conception of the $1,500,000 building, which already has taken on the appearances of the architect's drawing and which is expected to be in use by late 1953 or early 1954 alumni, as individuals and as organizations, and Ohio University is pretty much representative of the history of that relationship.

The Ohio University Alumni Association named its first president, A. G. Brown, in 1876. Mr. Brown, who received his bachelor's degree in 1822 and his master's in 1823, was a trustee of the University for almost 50 years.

Today alumni of Ohio University number more than 20,000 living graduates and more than that who did not finish their degree requirements.

Alumni are planning a Sesquicentennial Scholarship Fund as one of their contributions honoring Alma Mater's 150th birthday.

The span of time covered by alumni returning for the Sesquicentennial Homecoming could range over a remarkable 84 years. It is hoped that Dr. Phillip Zenner, who received his first degree from the University in 1870 and his master's three years later, will be an honored guest at the event. Among those honoring him will be several hundred 1954 additions to alumni rolls. Dr. Zenner, 100 years old, is Ohio University's oldest graduate and possibly the oldest college graduate in the nation. A retired physician living in Cincinnati, he is recognized by his profession as a pioneer in neurology.

Other living alumni whose year designations go back beyond the turn of the century include: A. A. George, '85, of Zanesville; Mrs. W. A. Hunter (Ella Kirkendall, '86) of Paso Robles, Calif.; Mrs. Charles E. Skinner (Gladys McVay, '89) of Athens; Thomas R. Biddle, '91, of Athens; Miss Anna Pearl Mc-

Vay, '92 (honorary LittD '09) of Athens; John E. Snow, '92 MS '96 (honorary MA '04) of Athens; Charles E. Westervelt, '92, MA '93, of Columbus. It is hoped that these and all other "old grads" will return to receive the homage of their University.

Emeriti professors and administrators who the University hopes will join alumni in the Sesquicentennial Homecoming celebration are: Edith E. Beechel, professor emerita of education; Edwin Watts Chubb, dean emeritus of the College of Arts and Sciences; Thomas C. McCracken, dean emeritus of the College of Education; Joshua Romaine Morton, '05, MS '12, professor emeritus of chemistry; George C. Parks,

Photo by Ivan Klebanow, '50

DR. PHILIP ZENNER, 100 years old, is the University's oldest graduate, possibly the oldest college graduate in the nation. He received his first degree in 1870, his master's three years later

'08, business manager emeritus; Frank W. Reed, professor emeritus of mathematics; Clarence C. Robinson, professor emeritus of voice; Azariah B. Sias, professor emeritus of school administration; Edwin B. Smith, professor emeritus of government; Irma E. Voigt, dean emerita of women; Hiram Roy Wilson, '96, MA '97, professor emeritus of English; Frederick H. Kreeker, professor emeritus of zoology.

Alumni war dead will be honored with a memorial service in the Homecoming Weekend. A feature of this service will be the opening of the Freedom Room which is planned for the new Student Center. In this room will be a parchment book containing the names of all Ohio University students who have fought in this nation's wars for freedom.

Popular features of the Homecoming program will be fireworks, an alumni luncheon, a carnival, and a giant float

OHIO UNIVERSITY ALUMNI have been organized for almost a century of the University's century and a half. The first president of the Ohio University Alumni Association was A. G. BROWN, '22, MA '25, who was named to head the organization in 1876. Mr. Brown was a trustee of the University for almost 50 years.

The old Northwest Territory will look to the future as it reviews the past parade that will follow the Sesquicentennial theme.

Ohio University's high place among colleges and universities and the history behind its attainment will mark the fourth big event of the Sesquicentennial—Ohio Education Days. Representatives from all colleges and universities in Ohio will be invited to attend the events of these two days. In addition, well-known educators from other colleges in what was the Old Northwest Territory and from other parts of the nation are expected to participate in the Sesquicentennial Convocation and march in the great academic procession that will follow.

Earlier in the year (April) the Ohio Academy of Science will hold its annual meeting at Ohio University.

Ohio Education Days will pay tribute to the state of Ohio and its outstanding educational system, which has heeded closely Manasseh Cutler's admonishment that "... schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged."

Ohio Education Days will be built around a Conference on Higher Education (in Ohio). Papers and discussions listed for the two days of intensive study by Ohio University and representatives of other schools will examine such things as the history of higher education in Ohio, present problems, finances, and future needs and how to meet them.

The educators will discuss, too, the matter of cooperation among the many different institutions of higher learning in Ohio and how best to give the people of Ohio the kind of educational service they need and desire.

These last-named topics are significant in view of Ohio's great number of colleges and universities. There are in the state 51 universities and colleges holding membership in the Ohio College Association or approved for teacher training by the state, or both. Besides these, there are 18 institutions which are classified as technical schools, professional schools, and theological seminaries. Of the total of 69, six are state-supported schools, three municipal, the remainder privately-financed.

While 150th birthday plans are centering on the four major occasions, 1954 will be a Sesquicentennial year every one of its 365 days. Throughout the year, the entire University—administration, faculty, students, and alumni—through departmental activities, fraternity, sorority and other student groups, and through alumni club projects and programs, will contribute toward making the observance of the occasion worthy of the event.

To the efforts of the University groups will of course be added those of persons from Athens and the immediate area of Ohio University, the state at large, and thousands of friends throughout the nation.

The Sesquicentennial Committee stresses that despite the proportions the observance of such an occasion must assume there will be no interference with the normal teaching function of the University during the year. On the contrary, it points out that the Sesquicentennial will provide the students with an educational experience in many ways unique.

"The many conferences, workshops, convocations, and other special Sesquicentennial events," said Dr. Baker, "will bring distinguished leaders from a wide variety of fields to the campus. The Sesquicentennial will give Ohio University students in 1954 an 'educational bonus'."

Almost half-a-hundred persons—faculty, students, townspeople, and alumni—have been serving on a dozen committees which have been at work for more than a year on plans for the celebration of the University's 150th year.

Students are taking an active and important role in the preliminary work,

PROF. THOMAS N. HOOVER, '05, M.Ped. '06, University historian. The Ohio University history that he drafted prior to his death a year ago is to be published in the Sesquicentennial year as they will in the year of celebration.

Heading the Sesquicentennial Committee as honorary chairman is the chairman of the Board of Trustees, Gordon

TWO MORE MEN'S DORMITORIES for East Green are scheduled for dedication in the year of the Sesquicentennial. This will bring to three the number of permanent dorms on this post-World War II part of the campus. Eventually 11 are to be erected there. The facilities of the new units will be much the same as those of Arthur C. Johnson Hall, which was opened early this year (June, 1952 Alumnus) to some 116 students. The East Green dorms follow a cottage-type pattern and are being designed to fit into the colonial architecture scheme of the University's oldest and newest buildings. The dorms will "harmonize" in design as a group, but each will have its own distinctive exterior features

K. Bush, '24, who a few months ago succeeded Fred Johnson, '22, as board chairman.

Besides Mr. Bush of Athens, and Mr. Johnson of Columbus, trustees of Ohio University are: Fred W. Crow, '04, of Pomeroy; E. C. Eikenberry, '96, of Camden; John W. Galbreath, '20, of Columbus; Joseph B. Hall of Cincinnati; C. Don McVay, '15, of Leroy; H. E. Frederick, '19, of Marysville; Harvey B. Jordan of Cleveland.

Alumni, besides those on the faculty, have played important roles in the preliminary planning for the event and will continue to do so as the program takes more definite shape. Association President Carr Liggett, '16, is a member of the Alumni Committee, along with Clark Williams, '21, and Chairman Marty Hecht, '46, alumni secretary and associate secretary, respectively.

Off-campus alumni on Sesquicentennial committees include John Bolin, '24; Mrs. Gordon Gray (Helen E. Mc-

MEMBERS OF THE ALUMNI PUBLIC RELATIONS COUNCIL: Cleveland area—Robert H. Marriott, '29, vice-president, Climalene Company, Canton; Edward J. Martin, '28, vice-president, Fuller & Smith & Ross, Inc., Cleveland; Robert O. Richards, '29, advertising and public relations, Westinghouse Electric Corp., Mansfield; Clinton B. McKnight, '35, director of public relations, Diamond Alkali Co., Cleveland; Carr Liggett, '16, Carr Liggett Advertising Co., Inc., Cleveland; Mrs. Carl T. Robertson, (Josephine Weubben, '21), feature writer and medical reporter, Cleveland Plain Dealer; Daniel M. Wertman, '39, copyreader, Cleveland News.

New York area—Anne Saum, '27, head of Anne Saum and Associates; Julian M. Snyder, '22, vice-president, Erwin, Wasey & Co.; Thomas Slater, '30, vice-president, Ruthroff & Ryan, Inc.; John Mack Taylor, '44, press dept., The Borden Co.; John R. Whiting, '36, publisher of Flower Grower; Harry Waddell, '33, editor of Factory Management.

Other areas—Paul Brickman, '46, account executive, Fuller & Smith & Ross, Inc., Chicago; Ralf C. Kircher, '29, president, Kircher, Helton, Collett, Inc., Dayton; William F. Smiley, '27, information director, Ohio Fuel Gas Co.; Mary McGarey, feature writer, Columbus Dispatch; Ben Hayes, '35, columnist, Columbus Citizen; Tam L. Ryan, '47, information director, Manufacturers Light and Heat Co., Pittsburgh.

University representatives—President Baker, Brandon T. Graver, '19, assistant to the president; Clark E. Williams, '21, alumni secretary; George Starr Lasher, professor of journalism; E. S. Sherow, '29, director of News Bureau; Robert W. McCreanor, '48, editor, The Ohio Alumnus; Albert C. Gubitz, director of off-campus relations; C. N. Mackinnon, professor of English; Martin L. Hecht, '46, associate alumni secretary and associate director of The Ohio University Fund.

Laughlin, '32); Mrs. H. G. Stalder (Margaret Ullom, '16); and Mayor Peter Seel, '36, all of Athens.

The immediate objective of the Alumni Public Relations Council, established two years ago, is the Sesquicentennial. This committee is made up of some 15 men and women prominent in the newspaper, advertising, or public relations fields.

Art Gift Has Sesquicentennial Significance

Frederick W. Schumacher, widely-known art patron of Columbus, presented Ohio University with what President Baker described as "the first tangible evidence of the significance of the University's Sesquicentennial."

A portrait of Lincoln, the Schumacher gift is expected to be the nucleus of a permanent University art collection made possible through benefactors like Mr. Schumacher.

A feature of Founders' Day in the Sesquicentennial year will be an exhibit of art pieces given to the University in commemoration of its 150th birthday, and from the exhibit will stem the University's own art museum.

The painter of the Lincoln portrait, which now hangs in the first floor corridor of Cutler Hall, was Charles M. Shean, noted portrait and mural artist and Gold Medal winner at the St. Louis World Exposition. The work is described by Prof. L. C. Mitchell, director of the School of Painting and Allied Arts as "an excellent example of portrait painting of Shean's period."

The donor of the painting is a man who can without apologies accept in their full meaning such appositives as patron of the arts, philanthropist, and scholar. At 89 years of age he is still active in the handling of his business affairs and in pursuits that lead "to repose and continued usefulness."

Mr. Schumacher was president of the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts for some 20 years. He was named a director and trustee of the Gallery in 1902 and is now an emeritus trustee. He helped the Columbus art institution to attain the high place it holds today, his own contributions to it filling two rooms.

His Broad Street home, a stately mansion behind an iron fence wrought in Munich, Germany, almost 50 years ago, itself holds art treasures that would be priceless additions to any gallery in the nation.

Mr. Schumacher's philanthropies include the gift of a mansion to the city of Waco, Texas, for use as a public library, a tribute to his early residence

The University expects thousands of its alumni to return in 1954 to hear the report of the administration and the trustees on 150 years of stewardship. President Baker, the trustees, faculty, and students cite the fact that alumni presence and participation are essential to the success of the Sesquicentennial.

As Ohio University celebrates its 150 years, it will contemplate and reaffirm the words of its seal, cast in 1804: "... Religio, Doctrina, Civilitas — Prae Omnibus Virtus (Religion, Learning, Citizenship—Above All, Virtue).

MR. SCHUMACHER

there. A staunch Lutheran, he restored the church constructed in the year 1080 in the town of his birth, Berg auf Fehmarn, a Danish island town in the Baltic, as a tribute to two bishop forebears. But he has also built a school and residence cottage for the Sisters of Notre Dame on the Mount of Olives in Jerusalem, and had an altar cloth woven in Europe for the Catholic church in the Canadian town which he founded and which was named for him.

He has been honored with doctoral degrees by Lincoln Memorial University in Harrogate, Tenn., Capital University in Columbus, and Ohio Wesleyan in Delaware.

Photo by Ben Martin, '53

"THE FIRST TANGIBLE EVIDENCE of the significance of the University's Sesquicentennial," President Baker termed the Lincoln portrait that was presented to the University recently by Frederick W. Schumacher. With Dr. Baker in the picture is L. C. Mitchell, director of Painting and Allied Arts

On and About the Green . . .

Freshman Enrollment Jumps

A marked increase in freshmen featured the figures of the 1952-53 fall enrollment. Freshman enrollment of 1236 for this fall is approximately 42 percent better than last year's 871, and is the first increase in the number of first-year students since 1948.

Total enrollment, exclusive of branches and extension division, reached 3921, at least a couple of hundred more than early estimates anticipated and only 23 less than the fall of 1951 figure. The military situation, high wages, and other factors were expected to cut even deeper into this year's enrollment than they did in 1951.

The Zanesville, Chillicothe, and Portsmouth branches reached a total enrollment of 451 in their second year as self-supporting off-campus centers. Fees for the branches were substantially hiked in 1951, but the schools have suffered no enrollment drop that can be attributed directly to the increased cost to the student enrolled in them. Postwar enrollment in the branches went well over 1000, but has declined along with the decline in World War II veteran enrollment everywhere.

The student-veteran enrollment, fast fading, took a new turn as the 1952-53 school year opened. Almost 100 students, most of them freshmen, enrolled under the new GI Bills, established by Congress to give to men and women in service since June, 1950, virtually the same benefits World War II vets received. World War II vets now number 201 on the campus, another 50 or so in the branches.

The new vets, almost twice the number expected, according to Dr. Victor Whitehouse, coordinator of veterans affairs, are enrolled under Public Law 550 (equivalent of PL 346) except for one student who is enrolled under the provisions of PL 894, the bill for disabled vets which is virtually the same as old PL 16. The new veteran group includes six who saw service in Korea.

The student enrolled under the bill for disabled veterans is Theodore Rozar of Cleveland, formerly a paratrooper with the 505th Reg. of the 82nd Airborne Division. Veteran Rozar, 20 years old, was with the 82nd a year before he suffered a back injury in a jump while on maneuvers at Ft. Benning, Ga.

The Cleveland youth's military career began at the age of 15 when he enlisted in the Marines. He served a year before his true age was discovered and he was given an "under age" discharge.

Students from abroad number 58 this year, with 25 places represented. Hawaii leads with nine, Greece is second with five, and Japan and Curacao have four each.

Other enrollment statistics of interest: Seventy-five of Ohio's 88 counties are represented in the freshman enrollment; but 10 counties have only one freshman; 136 high schools have only one freshman at Ohio University; 86 high schools have only freshman students here; 18 of Sandusky's 28 students in the University this year are freshmen. Among counties showing increases in the number of freshmen enrolled at Ohio University: Ashtabula, 21, compared with 7 in 1951; Cuyahoga, 255 this year, 190 in 1951; Erie, 18 now, 6 a year ago; Jackson, 20, only 7 in 1951; Hamilton, 32 this year, 20 last year.

1952-53 Plays Announced

Those alums and students more interested in the cultural side of Homecoming enjoyed the University Theater production of Faye Kamin's Goodbye, My Fancy. Other theater offerings this year include Anderson's Elizabeth, the Queen, Dec. 9-13; The Hasty Heart, Feb. 24-28; and The Man, April 21-26. In addition to these presentations, the University Playshop will stage two productions from the Great Play series. These will be Le Cid, Nov. 13-15, and Beau Stratagem, May 7-10, both of which will be given free. The annual musicale presented by the University Theatre has been set for March 20 and 21.

Engineers Join National

Pi Epsilon Mu engineering fraternity was unanimously elected to Tau Beta Pi, national engineering honor society, at the convention held at the University of Oklahoma.

Tau Beta Pi was founded at Leligh University in 1885. The honor society is for undergraduates who have attained high scholastic ratings. It is also for outstanding alumni in the field of engineering.

There are 90 chapters throughout the country at various universities and colleges.

Seagram Collection Shown

The first art exhibition of the school year consisted of selections from the Joseph E. Seagram and Sons collection of contemporary paintings which were displayed in the library. It marked the first time these paintings had been shown outside of Kentucky. Among other displays scheduled for the Chubb Library gallery this year is the only showing in the state to be seen of a Japanese student art exhibition.

Point Averages Increase

In spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of study. With all respects to the poetic insight of Tennyson, scholarship at Ohio University tends to show an upsurge in the spring semester. Last term was no exception as the all-campus average was boosted to

THEODORE ROZAR of Cleveland, shown here with Dr. Victor Whitehouse, coordinator of veterans affairs, is the first enrollee under PL 894, the new GI Bill for disabled veterans

CHARLES J. FLEMING, JR., '50, was the first person to enroll at Ohio University under the provisions of the new GI Bill. A former assistant to the dean of men, he is now director of non-academic personnel and is enrolled in graduate courses. A World War II veteran, he was recalled to service late in 1950 an impressive 2.544 compared to the first semester's 2.462 average. Among the Greeks, Beta Theta Pi fraternity and Phi Mu sorority placed highest in their respective groups.

Concert Schedule Shapes Up

Living up to its motto, "A Carnegie Hall in Every Town," the Athens Community Concert Association has already signed three outstanding attractions for this year's concert series.

The first concert will be presented by the Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra, which appeared here about three years ago and was very well received.

Leonard dePaur's Infantry Chorus composed of 32 ex-GIs will be in Athens on its sixth national tour for the second concert. The group is drilled by dePaur with musical as well as military precision and recently made a hit recording of "Lights Out" for Columbia.

MR. HART

Third of the scheduled concerts to appear at OU will be the Philharmonic Piano Quartet.

More Doors and Windows

No one associated with Ohio University is more aware of its postwar building program than Ernest Pritz and Dale Hart, veteran University night watchmen.

As each new instructional building (they don't check dorms) — Chemistry, Engineering, Speech and Dramatic Arts, Natatorium—has gone up it has added to the couple of hundred doors and the some 2500 windows that the two men must check each night to see that all are locked. And it has brought the number of stairsteps they go up and down in a nightly round of 15 miles through 23 buildings to about 6000.

But these veteran members of the University's housekeeping staff (Mr. Hart is a 24-year employee, Mr. Pritz, a 22-year) don't really mean it if they complain a little when handed the keys to a new building. Their near 25-years of service is indication enough that Ohio University is more than just a job to them and that they probably take a certain pride in being part of that University.

Officially classified as "Park Police," along with the two campus policemen, Burns Ervin and Donald Cone, the two men have helped at football games and during heavy traffic congestions when students leave the campus at vacation times.

But their big duty is protecting the University property while the campus sleeps.

MR. PRITTS

Campus Clippings

The leaves are falling now and the rains have come and gone, temporarily. Surely there is no better way to spend an afternoon than to take a ride through the Athens countryside. The hills are scarlet and gold with such a beauty that we can't help but wish that autumn would last a few more months.

Now is the time when we have to start searching for the zip-in lining for our winter coat and write to Mom to send down that heavy wool blanket, along with a box of cookies, of course.

Architectural progress is much in evidence this fall around the campus. Our long awaited Student Center is going up—and one of the many quonset huts that mushroomed after the war is coming down. This will be the last year of vainly trying to disguise the men's gym into a dreamland for dancing for there will be not one but two ball rooms for student dances in the new building.

Approximately half of the student body descended on Cleveland for one of the biggest and best Migration days ever. With the help of many alumni, we cheered our team to another victory. Then after a whirlwind attempt at doing Cleveland in one evening we piled into our cars for the 200 mile trek to Athens where townspeople had just experienced the quietest, sanest weekend of the year.

It was the weekend of the '30, '31, '32 football reunion that made all of us realize what fine OU'ers had gone before us. After the team had been introduced on the football field, one of the men who had been a cheerleader while the team was in its prime stepped before the stands. With cheer leading flourishes, he led us in a cheer that could have been heard up on North Hill. Someone hoarsely whispered, "Let's subsidize him, he's all-right."

National elections as well as the class elections which will be held on the big voting day have stirred up the entire campus. Would-be politicians are being seen in all the better coffee shops getting out the vote while the upperclassmen have been haunting the notary publics to get their absentee ballots signed.

The new freshmen are gradually losing their novice look as they join the upperclassmen for convos, coffee at Blackmore's or Quick's, sleepy 8 o'clocks, and the pre-exam struggle in the library. Their white bucks are almost as grey as a sophomore's, and they've just about memorized all the women's dorm phone numbers.

N.L.

The Faculty

PROFESSOR SMITH

Sesqui Symbol Designer

Charles L. Smith, designer of the official symbol for the Sesquicentennial of the state of Ohio, describes his prize-winning effort as a "rather eleventh-hour affair." But perhaps it was an inspiration born of urgency that brought forth a design judges picked as best among entries from all over the state.

Artist Smith's design was selected from a final field of 15 which were chosen after screening in nine regional contest centers.

Mr. Smith, assistant professor of design, is a member of the Ohio University Sesquicentennial Art Committee and will lend his talents to a production of a symbol for the University's own 150th birthday celebration in 1954.

Doing the urging in the last minute surge of talent that resulted in a prize winner ($100) was Mrs. Smith. Mr. Smith said that his wife's persistence finally overcame his own procrastination. The production of the drawing took place in about three hours the night before the deadline for entry.

From a neighbor's World Almanac the facts to be used were selected and worked into a design and the sketch was executed. After the design was named the winner, a more finished drawing was made for production purposes.

A graduate of the University of Cincinnati, Mr. Smith headed the art department of a printing firm prior to serving with the Army Transportation Corps as a civilian designer for a consulting engineering firm. Formerly chief layout designer for Schaten Studios, a Cincinnati art studio which creates local and national advertising, Mr. Smith became a teacher on an "experimental" basis in 1949.

The experiment worked, and today he says with feeling, "I thoroughly enjoy teaching." But even though teaching has won a convert from the field, Artist Smith works in the Cincinnati studio each summer and free lances during the school year.

Of teaching he says: "I think a teacher of any creative class should in a sense be a bridge spanning the gap between a student's present ability and background and what his potential might be."

He says, too, that a teacher ought to be an inspiration to students and able to instill confidence in them. His own students attest to Teacher Smith's knack for both inspiring and encouraging them, for they see in him both the good teacher and the successful commercial artist.

New Faculty Named

Forty-five persons are listed as new faculty appointments for the 1952-53 school year.

This does not include the ROTC program, where an additional seven men are named, headed by a new professor of military science and tactics, Lt. Col. Olen J. Seaman, Jr., who recently concluded almost four years service in Greece and Turkey. Colonel Seaman succeeds Lt. Col. Harold J. Kelly, Jr., who was transferred to Ft. Meade, Md., where he heads up all Second Army ROTC activities.

Joseph A. Romig, formerly on the faculty of Syracuse University and later educational consultant in employee relations for Standard Oil of New Jersey, has been named associate professor of business law. Professor Romig's law degree was granted by the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Oscar J. Viksnins, a Latvian displaced person who has been in the United States about a year and a half, is a new associate physician. He had previously been on the staff of Springfield (Ohio) City Hospital.

Assistant professors appointed and their fields are: Irvin P. Badger, civil engineering; Russell N. Baird, journalism; Robert K. Butner, mathematics; Robert H. Cory, social science; Margaret I. Felsing, education; William G. Gambill, Jr., botany; Harry L. Hoffee, MS '51, electrical engineering; Maxwell S. Pullen, psychology; Thomas S. Smith, physics.

Instructors: Duane F. Blackwood, psychology; Frances W. Burdette, sociology; David M. Chalmers, history; Mary L. Colberg, mathematics; Leighton Conkling, violoncello; Owen C. Duston, English; A. Lincoln Fisch, mathematics; Ethel A. Gangwer, home economics;

Clifford C. Heffelfinger, physical education and athletics; Edgar A. Hirschberg, English; Mary Joyce, physical education and athletics; Mrs. Margaret C. Kasten, '36, MA '41, English; A. Sidney Knowles, Jr., English; Marilyn Langford, home economics; Kathryn A. Manuel, physical education and athletics; Mary E. McClelland, psychology and human relations; Neal D. Newby, Jr., mathematics; George K. Park, sociology; James Patton, III, English; Willard B. Phelps, geography and geology; Leonard O. Pinsky, philosophy; Alain Renoir, English; Florence Ullman, '42, education; Algray L. Verssen, mathematics.

Other appointments include a visiting lecturer in photography, Walter A. Allen; an assistant dean of women, Margaret M. Deppen; an assistant librarian in charge of circulation, Dorothy M. Dickinson.

Acting instructors: F. Patrick Collins, '50, industrial relations; Floyd Heckert, '52, dramatic art and speech; Alice S. Lockard, home economics; Helen Jean Pepper, dramatic art and speech.

Part-time instructors: Charlotte L. Lane, dramatic art and speech; Milan Mihal, education; Mrs. Loren C. Staats (Esther Kenney, '24, MA '48).

Military appointments are: M Sgt. Adolf J. Kratochvil, air science and tactics; M Sgt. Willis I. Linton, military science and tactics; S Sgt. George W. Sprague, air science and tactics; M Sgt. James C. Wells, military science and tactics; M Sgt. William W. Wolfe, air science and tactics; T Sgt. Donald E. Craig, air science and tactics.

Attend Engineers' Centennial

E. H. Gaylord, professor of civil engineering, represented Ohio University at the Centennial meeting of the American Society of Civil Engineers in Chicago.

Called one of the greatest scientific gatherings ever held, the event included coincident gatherings of 64 other engineering organizations, all assembled to honor the 100th anniversary of the oldest, the civil engineering group. More than 30,000 persons attended the observance and some 1000 speakers addressed the various gatherings.

Also from Ohio University at the meetings were Paul H. Black, professor of mechanical engineering; George Clark, associate professor of civil engineering; and Dean E. J. Taylor of the College of Applied Science.

Take Part in ROTC Talks

President Baker and Lt. Col. John K. Graham, head of Air ROTC, participated with more than 115 college presidents and vice presidents and 60 deans in one of two Air Force ROTC orientation conferences at the Air University, Maxwell Air Force Base, at Montgomery, Alabama, in October.

The Bobcats

by Jack Gilbert, '52

Bobcats 14, Navy 0

Minutes after the opening kick-off, an OU griddier intercepted a Toledo pass and raced along the sidelines for the first Bobcat score. The public address system came to life with: "That was Tom Ascani returning the catch 25 yards as the Bobcats lead 6-0."

The spirited OU eleven had begun what many in the stands thought probably wouldn't happen. Outweighed nearly 15 pounds per man, the Bobcats outran, outpassed and outplayed a powerful University of Toledo team made up of all but three of the players that stopped OU 13-6 in 1951.

The 22-20 win over Toledo climaxed a thrilling afternoon for the many fans crowded into Ohio Stadium. But for 24 of those present the game had a different significance. It had been designated earlier as part of a celebration to honor returning lettermen of the 1930, '31 and '32 Ohio University football teams.

The twenty-four who returned had played on the teams that brought what is often referred to as the "golden era" of Ohio University football history. In the three-year period, the Fighting Bobcats of the early thirties won 22 contests, lost three and tied one. Together with the 9-0 record of the 1929 team, these were the greatest years in Bobcat football history.

One of the greatest victories of the Bobcats in this period was the 14-0 upset over the U. S. Naval Academy in 1932. The game was played on a Saturday afternoon in October similar to the afternoon of the Toledo game. The sun was shining but there was just enough October chill in the air to make ideal football weather. Some of the events of the two games were similar, too. If one were sitting close enough to the reunion group at the Toledo clash when Ascani made his interception, he might have overheard Ralph Robinette, '34, proudly whisper to Joe "Bull" Sintic, '33: "That's the way I did it against the Middies, hey Bull?"

And when Quarterback Bill Fredricks hit End Gene Nuxhall with a 13-yard pass to set up the second tally for the 1952 Bobcats, Sintic might have been heard exclaiming: "How about that one, Ralph. Looked like me catching that fourth-quarter touchdown pass against Navy, didn't it?"

Many times throughout the OU-Toledo game some, or all, of the group might have searched back in memory to recall incidents of their own gridiron accomplishments. Each time "Yea, Ohio" rang through Ohio Stadium it echoed back twenty years to Navy's famed Thompson Field at Annapolis.

The 1932 Fighting Bobcats had defeated Rio Grande and Franklin, lost a thrilling 7-6 decision to Indiana and were entering the Navy contest a decided underdog.

But the OU eleven played as one, according to newspaper accounts of the day. The determined and rugged forward wall never let up and the backs ran with new power and spirit. This was combined with the passing and punting of Halfback Harold Brown, '32, and the Bobcats were not to be stopped.

After playing on even ground throughout the first quarter, Brown found Elden Armbrust, '35, in the open and connected with a pass good for 50 yards to the Navy 20. Henry Corradini, '32, quarterback, picked up six yards on a Statue of Liberty play and later scooped up a flat pass to account for eight more. Matty Fehn, '32, busted through the Navy defense for the score and Armbrust dropkicked the extra point from 12 yards out.

The Middies tightened up their attack the rest of the second quarter and throughout the third as the ball changed hands many times. Then in the fourth period, as Navy penetrated into Bobcat territory, Robinette intercepted a Middie pass on his own 35-yard line and returned it to the Navy 25. Power plays moved the ball to the 17 from where Brown passed to Sintic in the end zone to insure an OU victory. Sintic's placement erased all the Middies' hopes.

The victory was certainly one of the greater ones in Bobcat football history and those among the returning stalwarts that needed their memories prodded found encouragement Saturday evening at a climaxing "Reunion Party" held at the Athens Country Club. Movies of the 1930, '31 and '32 period were shown, and the former players and coaches could find time to discuss the "golden era."

The reunion of the three teams was sponsored by the Alumni Office and the Athletic Department as part of long-range reunion plans for Bobcat football, basketball and baseball teams.

A kick-off luncheon was held before the game to enable returning players to meet and get re-acquainted. Prior to game time, members of the 1930, '31 and '32 teams were introduced to the 1952 Fighting Bobcats and were later honored at halftime ceremonies.

Following the game, a reunion dinner was held at Lindley Hall. President John C. Baker in a brief, informal speech said that "we should have been having these reunions 25 years ago."

Dr. Baker commended the Alumni Association for its work in setting up the reunion plans and explained that the purpose of the reunions is to build a closer relationship between graduates and the traditions of Ohio University.

He said that he was proud of the policies of the Athletic Department and that because of such men as Don Peden,

BOBCATS SINK THE NAVY, 14-0: Halfback Joe "Bull" Sintic's kick splits the uprights following the second OU touchdown as the 1932 Fighting Bobcats upset the Middies of Annapolis at famed Thompson Field. Included in the Bobcat backfield were Henry Corradini, George Brown and Lenard Sodosky. Joseph Colvin centered for the placement. The Middies are in dark uniforms

W. J. "Dutch" Trautwein and B. T. "Butch" Grover, '19, (all long-time coaches and officials at Ohio University) the athletic policies are still the same as the policies in 1930, '31 and '32.

Last to be heard was Don Peden, coach of the 1930, '31 and '32 teams, for 21 years head football coach, and athletic director from 1947 to 1949.

"Looks like I had a lot to do about the success of these teams," he reminisced. "But the real reason for success," he assured, "was that we had boys with big hearts, boys with courage." Looking out over the former players, he declared: "You were one of the toughest teams of that time."

Recalling the 1930, '31 and '32 seasons, Peden noted that many of the players then were from small high schools. He attributed the teams' winning ways to their "willingness to pay the price in spirit, loyalty, and love for the game."

"I am more proud of these teams tonight," Peden concluded, "than I was 20 years ago."

Others who spoke briefly were Martin W. Hecht, associate alumni secretary and director of the reunion program; present football coach Carroll C. Widjoes; B. T. "Butch" Grover, former football coach, now assistant to the president and W. J. "Dutch" Trautwein, former coach and now associate director of athletics.

Also present were Dr. and Mrs. Blaine Goldsberry, '14, former team physician, and Thor Olson, '27, who for 35 years was team trainer; Mickey McNeal, equipment manager of the 1932 team; Joseph P. Trepp, former assistant coach and now associate professor of physical education; and William H. Herbert, '25, former assistant coach and now purchasing agent and professor of commerce. Chairman of the reunion celebration was Henry Corradini.

Bobcats Win First Four

The Fighting Bobcats vaulted into the Mid-American Conference lead by virtue of a 27-18 victory over the Golden Flashes of Kent State University at Kent. The Bobcat win broke a three-way deadlock for first-place honors between Miami, Kent and OU.

The Redskins, with a 2-0 mark, are yet to be defeated but the Bobcats hold a 3-0 record, having played one more conference game than Miami.

The victory over Kent showed the Bobcats continuing their week-to-week improvement. Pre-game speculation rated OU 3-point favorites. Actually, they were stronger than the final score indicates. Practically all of the fourth quarter was played by reserves. It was while the second and third team was in the game that Kent tallied its final two markers.

The Bobcats entered the Kent game with a 3-0 record, two of the wins over Mid-American Conference foes. In the season opener against Morris Harvey at Charleston, W. Va., the Bobcats managed a 20-6 win in the face of first game jitters in a contest tattered with fumbles and penalties.

Returning to Ohio Stadium the following Saturday to battle highly-rated

1930, '31, '32 FOOTBALL REUNION GROUP: first row, Charles Hamilton (left) '32, Cleveland, and Dr. Baker and three sons of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Brown. Second row (from left)—E. Marshall Griffith, '32, Johnstown, Pa.; Dr. Blaine Goldsberry, team physician, Athens; Mrs. Don Peden; Coach Don Peden; Mrs. W. J. Trautwein; W. J. "Dutch" Trautwein, assistant coach; Mrs. B. T. Grover; B. T. "Butch" Grover, assistant coach; Mrs. Ernest McNeal. Third row—Kermit Blasser, '32, Athens; Mrs. Blasser (Mildred Howard, '25); Joseph P. Trepp, assistant coach; Mrs. Trepp; Mrs. H. Donald Maurer; H. Donald Maurer, '34, Uhrichsville; Mrs. Claude C. Christman (Betty Hack, '35); Rex Burke, '32, Defiance; Mrs. Burke. Standing, left to right—Mrs. Kendall Query (Isabel Hepburn, '32); Kendall Query, '31, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Charles R. Tarzinski, '31, Dayton; Mrs. Tarzinski (Florence Quinby, '32); Mrs. Lenard Sodasky (Elizabeth Keys, '32); Lenard Sodasky, '33, Willoughby; George Brown, '31, Cleveland; Ray E. Hart, '31, Indianapolis, Ind.; Mrs. Hart; Mrs. George Brown (Ruth Fowler, '32); Harold Brown, '32; Mrs. Harold Brown, Gallipolis; Joseph J. Esmant, '32, North Canton; Mrs. Robert Hilbert; Robert F. Hilbert, '34, Piqua; Mrs. Esmond; Clark "Red" Gabriel, '32, Piqua; Mrs. Bernard J. McCashen (Regina Mulligan, '31); Mrs. Gabriel; Henry "Hank" Corradini, '32, Athens; Mrs. Corradini (Margaret Radford, '34); Bernard J. McCashen, '33, Lancaster; Mrs. Joseph G. Sinitic; Ralph L. Rabinette, '34, Youngstown; Mrs. Rabinette; Joseph G. Sinitic, '33, Madison; Clayton R. Kessler, '34, Springfield; Mrs. Kenneth E. Bennett; Kenneth E. Bennett, '34, Marietta; Mrs. George W. Swindell; Mrs. Kessler; Elden "Army" Armbrust, '35, Washington C. H.; George W. Swindell, '31, Canton; Ernest "Mickey" McNeal, team equipment manager

Photo by Ben Martin.

Athen Messenger photo by Don Moore, '50

DON ESKEY, 145-pound left halfback, runs into a host of Toledo tacklers in the Bobcats' home opener. Outweighed nearly 15 pounds per man, the spirited OU eleven edged the Rockets 22-20 in a game which honored returning players of the 1930, 31, and 32 football teams

University of Toledo, the OU eleven performed like seasoned veterans to edge the invader 22-20. Fumbles and penalties were still prominent, but overall team improvement offset them.

On the road again against the Red Cats of Western Reserve at Cleveland, the Bobcats left little doubt that they were a team to be reckoned with. In a one-sided affair they smothered Reserve 22-7 and missed enough chances to make the score half a hundred.

But the highest hurdles are ahead. Entering the halfway mark of their schedule, the Bobcats have yet to face Miami and Cincinnati, both strong contenders for the Mid-American crown. Should Ohio win over both, or one, of these opponents it could very well go on to claim its first Mid-American Conference championship.

1952-53 BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

Dec. 6—Marietta College	Athens
Dec. 9—Ohio Wesleyan	Delaware
Dec. 13—Kent State*	Athens
Dec. 19—University of Pittsburgh	Pittsburgh
Dec. 20—Washington & Jefferson
Jan. 3—Western Reserve*	Cleveland
Jan. 5—Kent State*	Kent
Jan. 10—Miami*	Athens
Jan. 12—Denison University	Athens
Jan. 14—Muskingum College	New Concord
Jan. 17—Toledo University*	Athens
Jan. 24—Bowling Green	Athens
Jan. 30—Cincinnati*	Cincinnati
Jan. 31—Miami*	Oxford
Feb. 6—Western Reserve*	Athens
Feb. 7—Western Michigan*	Athens
Feb. 10—Marshall College	Athens
Feb. 14—Toledo University*	Toledo
Feb. 17—Cincinnati*	Athens
Feb. 21—W. Michigan*	Kalamazoo, Mich.
Feb. 24—Marietta	Marietta
Feb. 27—Marshall	Huntington, W. Va.

* Mid-American games

Frank Goettge, 'Greater than Thorpe,' Wore Ohio U's Green and White as Freshman Before World War One

Ohio University has never produced an All-American football player, but for a period of time a man who was reputed to be "the greatest back the game has ever seen" donned the Green and White of the Fighting Bobcats.

Walter Camp, late dean of football experts, saw him play in the early 1920's and was moved to write: "Today I saw a football player who, for today at least, was greater than Jim Thorpe."

His name was Frank Goettge and he entered Ohio University in the fall of 1916. While here he played on the freshman football squad and under prevailing wartime regulations was eligible to participate in varsity athletics. There has been some question as to Goettge ever having played college football. (It has been stated he had not.) However, Frank B. Gullum, '07, football coach at OU in 1919 and now professor of chemistry assures that Goettge played freshman ball but never participated in a varsity game.

At any rate, Goettge's career as an OU griddier was an abbreviated one, for he left the campus in 1917 to enlist in the U. S. Marine Corps as a private. He saw action with the Fifth Marines in the Meuse-Argonne offensive and following the war was stationed at the Marine Base in Quantico, Va. Although he had resumed playing football while in France, Goettge didn't come into his own until he began playing with the Quantico Marines.

He reached the high point in his gridiron career in a game against the powerful 3rd Corps Army team, led by Gene Vidal, All-American back at West Point. The year was 1921 and service teams were recognized with the nation's best. The game was billed as the deciding factor in the national championship and the Army team was highly favored to win.

According to a clipping of a story appearing in The Leatherneck, a Marine Corps publication, and forwarded to the Alumnus by Pfc John Mitovich, Jr., '51, here is an eyewitness account of the game:

"Marine rooters were undismayed at the underdog role of their team. 'Keep your eye on Frank Goettge,' a thoughtful Marine in the stands said grimly. There was something akin to worship in his eyes as he talked about Goettge and so we kept our eyes on this comparative unknown. A few minutes after the game began Gene Vidal grabbed the ball and broke into the secondary behind his interference. A roar went up from the crowd, Vidal was off behind perfect blocking for the goal line! And then from nowhere a Marine back smashed through the massed interference and nailed Vidal. That was Frank Goettge.

"The Marines held; then they took the ball. Goettge smashed the line for five yards. Goettge slashed off tackle for eight yards. Goettge passed for 12 more yards. The Army finally took possession of the ball deep in its own territory and kicked out to midfield.

"Again the pounding, whirling Goettge spearheaded the Marine offensive. It was Frank Goettge against All-American Gene Vidal that day. Vidal played the best game of his career, but it wasn't good enough. Goettge ripped the line to shreds, swept the ends, passed and punted beautifully and was a stone wall on defense. When it was all over, the Quantico Marines had completed their first perfect football season by smearing the star 3rd Army Corps team 20 to 0!"

It was performances such as this that gained Goettge gridiron greatness. His outstanding ability made the Quantico Marines one of the most respected teams in the nation. In 1922 he sparked the Marines to their second successive undefeated season, including wins over the rough Navy and Georgetown teams.

In his four years as a player with the Marines, the team suffered only two defeats, was tied but once, and won 38 games. He was forced into retirement in 1925 because of a four-year service ruling and was offered a contract with the New York Giants, which he refused.

In the period between 1925 and the outbreak of World War II, Goettge served as coach of the Quantico Marines, was named an aide to President Herbert Hoover and continued his military career.

Early in World War II he went into the Solomon jungles in the Pacific with the First Marine Regiment. He was last seen at the head of his outfit pinned down by Japanese mortar and machine gun fire. He was reported by the Navy Department to be "missing and believed killed in action on Aug. 12, 1942."

And so ended the career of Col. Frank Goettge, a man who honored Ohio University by wearing the Green and White of the Fighting Bobcats.

SALUTE OF THE MONTH

goes to all football managers throughout the nation. An honorable but overworked position which Mike Henry of Ohio University proudly claims. Somewhat in the words of that well-known expression by a notable leader: "Never before have I seen so few do so much for so many!"

Page seventeen

MEd '50, vice president for men; Mrs. Faye Cordray Smith, '44, vice president for women; Howard Barnes, '49, secretary-treasurer.

The group approved the awarding of a scholarship for September, 1953, and established dues at $2 per year.

Presiding at the meeting was Judge Carlos M. Riecker, '22, who introduced Associate Alumni Secretary Marty Hecht, '46. Mr. Hecht spoke on "Alumni Club Activity and Organization."

The organization's "futures" include a dinner meeting for December 11.

Scholarship Awarded

The Women's Club of Youngstown met at Crandall Park September 20 for a picnic dinner and meeting that featured the announcement of the club's scholarship award recipient for the 1952-'53 school year.

A letter of appreciation from the awardee, Marlene Davis, was read to the group of approximately 30, as was one from Associate Alumni Secretary Marty Hecht, '46, thanking the club for its scholarship contribution.

Mrs. Zedna Barrett Fowler, '36, gave an interesting account of the early settlers of Ohio and their chief foods. The club's Theme for the Year is "Ohio Treasures."

A November 22 luncheon meeting (place to be announced) is planned by the Youngstown women, whose club officers are Mrs. Myrtle Burman Baker, '36, president; Mrs. Lois Lackey Blair, '19, vice president; Mrs. Ruth Lathouse O'Dea, '23, secretary; Helen Gerber, '27, treasurer; Doris Moore, '24, historian. Members of the club's advisory board are Isabel Bacon, '19, Sue Molnar, '40, and Florence Syferd, '36.

Dean Starcher Is Speaker

Chillicothe alumni heard Dean George W. Starcher, '26, of the College of Arts and Sciences describe the University's scholarships program and the importance of alumni in it at the center's meeting of October 9.

He thanked the Chillicothe alumni for sponsoring a scholarship, now held by Dorothy Woodbridge, who is enrolled in the Chillicothe branch. Alumni Secretary Clark E. Williams, '21, also spoke to the group of 20 and urged the alumni to come back to the University for Homecoming.

President Max Baughman, '47, presided at the meeting, which was followed by an informal session at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brandle (Jean Talbot, '17).

Mrs. Starcher (Margaret Shaver, '26) and Mrs. Williams (Marie Jewett, '22) were also guests of the Chillicothe group.

Letter from Liggett

Dear Fellow Alumnus:

BACK IN THE FOUR YEARS between 1912 and 1916, while my undergraduate feet were tramping down the grass under the McGuffey Elms, it never once occurred to me that Alma Mater would or wouldn't live to be 150 years old. The year 1954 was even more improbably far away than the age of those interplanetary adventurers who now keep the kids goggled in front of their TV sets.

There was, it's quite true, an air of agelessness about the Old Lady in those days before World War I. She looked as if she'd been sitting there in that happy rectangle above the unglamorous Hocking River ever since Manasseh Cutler kissed her goodbye shortly after the Revolutionary War. Cutler Hall and its wings, Music Hall on the other side of the hump, the gym, library and two dorms, Ewing and Ellis Halls all seemed hundreds of years old. When a new building was erected, as one was occasionally, we got the impression that Alma Mater was becoming plumper but not that she was growing fatefully ambitious. We loved her, she enriched our lives immeasurably—but there wasn't quite the thrill of marching out behind her, banners flying, to conquer the world.

Or am I just an old man in his dotage, whose memory is failing?

What reassures me now is a thrill, deeper than I could have felt or understood in those post-adolescent days, arising from the conviction that has been growing on me for several years that the dear Old Lady has come upon her second youth—and no Indian Summer about it—and that she's off to the crusades.

Only a little of this exciting emotion comes from the buildings sprouting all over the College Green. They're only the outer sign of a new inner exuberance. What really excites me is the leadership Alma Mater is taking in such things, for example, as the new summer Workshop on Economic Education and the still new course in Human Relations, both "firsts" in Ohio; leadership in putting intercollegiate athletics, at least in the Mid-American Conference, on a high basis we can all be proud of, though it's not new to Ohio U; the steady build up of the various colleges and departments, with notable expansion of the quality of their faculties; the rise in scholarship standards to a level approaching the best anywhere, private or state—altogether the new spirit that is animating trustees, administration, faculty, student body and alumni, the new growing sense of high destiny that is calling our University to a proud and useful place in America far beyond anything we've dreamed of in the past.

What a splendid spirit in which to come to Alma Mater's century-and-a-half birthday! For in 1954 we reach the Sesquicentennial that puts Ohio University in the class of the oldest and most respected institutions of higher learning on the North American continent. And we reach that venerable age not as an old university placidly remembering the past but as a young and dynamic one that knows its destiny is to become one of the finest small universities in the country—and that it's well on its way.

If you don't quite believe it, if you don't yet feel the thrill of it, I urge you to come to the new Athens at your first opportunity and catch the excitement that is more profound than you can imagine, a satisfying excitement that is calling all of us to big events and undertakings in celebration of Ohio University's 150th year!

Sincerely,

President, Ohio University Alumni Association

Akron Women Open Year

An attendance of 40 was reported for the Akron Association of Ohio University Women's Membership Tea October 4, the group's first meeting of the season.

The alumnae met with Mrs. Suzy

Collins Kruspe, '42, at the home of her mother, Mrs. John E. Collins. Mrs. Olive Russell Patterson, '16, gave a talk about her trip to England.

Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Orrell Rood Page, '14; Mrs. Bess Jones McCorkle, '18; Mrs. Eloise Stobbs Gran, '45; Mrs. Vivian Steele Neal, '43.

DR. NICE

Named Emeritus

Dr. Leonard B. Nice, '08, has retired from the active faculty of the Chicago School of Medicine, where for the past 16 years he has been professor and head of the Department of Physiology and Pharmacology. Effective October 1, he became professor emeritus of physiology and pharmacology.

Dr. Nice, who was born at New Marshfield near Athens, is outstanding in his field. He served on the faculties of Clark University, where he received his PhD, Harvard, Oklahoma, and Ohio State universities prior to going to the Chicago Medical School in 1936. He headed the Department of Physiology at Oklahoma.

Dr. Nice has had some half a hundred articles published in the American Journal of Physiology and other scientific journals. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Physiological Society, the Illinois and Oklahoma Academies of Science, American Society of Naturalists, Society of Experimental Biology and Medicine, and several other science organizations.

Dr. Nice spent a sabbatical year (1924-25) at Cambridge University in England and the Sorbonne in Paris.

Gets Deanship

Jane White, '39, has been appointed acting dean of students at Lake Erie College.

In her new assignment, recently created by the college, Miss White will coordinate and supervise the activities of all student organizations, serve as director of the social life of the campus, and work with the officers of the student government organizations.

Miss White has been director of the physical education department at Lake Erie College since 1949. She will retain supervision over the physical education program.

The new dean received her master's degree from Wellesley College and also has done graduate work at Syracuse University. She was formerly an instructor in physical education at Washington University in St. Louis, Mo., and in high schools at Randolph and Geneva, N. Y.

From Chemistry to Medicine

Benjamin Madow, '41, MS '43, a couple of months ago senior research chemist at the Goodyear plant in Akron, once a director on the research staff of Industrial Rayon Corp., former member of the Washington and Jefferson faculty, holder of a doctorate in industrial chemistry from Case Institute of Technology, as well as master and bachelor of science degrees from Ohio University, is now a freshman in medical studies at Western Reserve University.

This apparently unseemly switch of status is deliberate, the first step in the realization of a long and persistent ambition to be a doctor of medicine. This goal, shared by Mr. Madow and his wife, the former Fanny Simon, '41, has been held even as academic and professional advancement brought the former chemist, now 33 years old, security and renown in his profession.

The onetime research expert gives advance credit to his wife for "anything I may accomplish in the future. This is her wish as well as mine."

His wife, a former teacher, plans to work while her husband makes the long pull toward a medical career.

The preparation for that career will include four years at Western Reserve Medical School, one year of hospital internship, and from one to five years of resident service prior to private practice.

Cited by Trade

James G. Boden, '31, was recently the subject of a full page feature in Wood Construction & Building Materials, a trade magazine of the lumber and building material industry.

The magazine cited the growth of The Athens Flooring Co., of which Mr. Boden is the general manager and vice president. He joined the firm in 1951 as resident manager.

MR. BODEN

The organization originated as the Hewitt & Boden Company, a manufacturer of hardwood flooring, in the early part of the century, with Mr. Boden's father, James H. Boden, as a co-founder. It was incorporated as The Athens Flooring Company in 1927, and today distributes throughout the eastern United States.

In 1946, the firm acquired the Malta Manufacturing Company, nationally known producers of window frames, and in 1949 established a branch warehouse in Dunbar, W. Va.

Mr. Boden, whose wife is the former Ernestine Donnelly, '32, was recognized as a national leader in the trade when the OPS named him to the Millwork Industry Advisory Committee last fall.

Among Mr. Boden's associates in the company are John W. Boden, '34, director of procurements; Robert H. Moore, '51, and Richard V. Whitehouse, '49, salesmen; Barbara Humphrey, '52, general secretary; and Mrs. Robbin Bishop, '48, secretary to the Bodens.

Takes New McBee Post

Alfred T. Craft, '35, has been appointed to a newly-created position with The McBee Co. in Athens.

Formerly in the firm's Detroit office, he has moved to Athens to accept the assignment of coordinating sales force activities with production in the Athens plants. He terminated a successful sales career in Detroit to accept the new position. For the past five years he has been a member of the Crest Club, McBee's honor sales organization.

Mr. Craft joined The McBee Co. shortly after his discharge from the armed services in 1946. Prior to the war, he was publisher of the Glouster (Ohio) Press, a weekly newspaper.

Mrs. Craft is the former Thelma Ley, '41.

— Alumni in the Armed Forces —

Attend Command Class

Lt. Col. Herbert E. Gordon, '38, and Capt. Robert G. Vandemark, '44, are attending the associate class of the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kans.

Designed to prepare officers for duty as division commanders or for posts on the general staff of divisions, the associate class is a three-month condensation of the regular 10-month Command and General Staff College.

Upon completion of the class, Colonel Gordon will return to his assignment with the 137th Tank Bn., 37th Inf. Div., Camp Polk, La. He entered the Army in 1940 and participated in campaigns in Europe in World War II. After five years, he was released from active duty, but recalled in January of this year.

Captain Vandemark, whose wife is the former Jean Chapman, '43, will return to his job as aide to the commanding general of the 37th Inf. Div. at Camp Polk.

Captain Vandemark entered the Army in 1942, participated in three major campaigns in Europe, and is holder of the Bronze Star with "V" for valor device. He was released from active duty in December, 1945, recalled in October, 1951.

Named Pickett Chaplain

First Lieutenant Harold Salzman, '45, has been named the new Jewish Post Chaplain at Camp Pickett, Va. Army Training Center. He is the first chaplain of the Jewish faith to serve there since the reactivation of the post in 1950.

Prior to his military duties he served as rabbi of the Cedar Rapids Community Council, Cedar Rapids, Iowa—an office he held since his ordination in 1950.

He began his education in the Cleveland, Ohio, elementary schools and later attended Ohio University and the University of Cincinnati. He graduated from and received his religious orders from the Hebrew Union College.

Promoted by Marine Corps

Karl H. Schmidt, Jr., '41, has been promoted to lieutenant colonel in the Marine Corps Reserve. Colonel Schmidt for the past six years has represented the National Life Insurance Company, of Vermont in Akron. He is a veteran of World War II and fought with the Marines at Guadalcanal, where he won a Bronze Star and a Presidential Unit Citation. He was on active duty five years.

Armed Forces Briefs

Second Lieuts. Donald E. Winters, Duane F. Murphy, Gerald G. Lochr, Duane E. Punkar, Robert M. Kritzell, George L. Knox, and Jack H. Berger, all of the Class of '52, recently completed a six-week course at the Air Research and Development Command Indoctrination School, Wright-Patterson

AF Base. They have been assigned within the Research and Development Command of the Air Force.

Capt. Lewis J. Howes, Jr., '47, is with the Offutt Weather Central, Hqtrs. SAC, Offutt AF Base, Omaha, Nebraska.

Second Lieut. Charles R. Emrick, Jr., '51, MS '52, is a Quartermaster Corps officer at Camp Lee, Va.

First Lieut. John M. Nolan, '48, now stationed at Fort Campbell, Ky., was decorated with a commendation ribbon with metal pendant for service in the activation of the ROTC unit at Cristobal High School, Cristobal, Canal Zone. Mrs. Nolan is the former Rosemary Snackenburg, '48.

Second Lieut. Richard McFarland, '50, has been assigned to the weather detachment at Lockbourne AF Base, following a year of meteorological training at the University of Chicago. Mrs. McFarland is the former Joan Gibbons, '49.

PFC Wayne H. Krisher, '53, is playing center for the 24th Division Artillery football team at Camp Young, Japan. His squad will compete against other teams from the Japanese security forces. He is being coached by Lt. Col. Charles Babcock, former center for the New York Giants professional club. PFC Krisher played one year at Ohio University before entering the Army. He joined the 24th Division on April 1, 1952. The unit was transferred to Japan last January after 19 months in the front lines of Korea.

(continued on page 27)

THREE OHIO UNIVERSITY ALUMNI were awarded their wings by the United States Air Force at Reese Air Force Base, Texas, September 13. The three are Second Lieuts. David I. Hollenbaugh, '51, (left), Samuel I. Silers, Jr., '51, (center), and John R. Goldsberry, '50. They were members of Class 52-F of the USAF Basic Pilot School (Multi-Engine). Their wings and diplomas come after a year of intensive training. (Mrs. Silers is the former Ann Manville Smith, '52, and Mrs. Goldsberry is the former Jean Marie Eckley, '51)

Here and There Among the Alumni

1916

DR. JAMES L. HUPP, dean of students and professor of education at West Virginia Wesleyan College, is the author of a study designed to determine why prospective teachers tend to choose the secondary education field. The study, "What Influences Students to Prepare to Teach on the Secondary Level?" was published in the "Proceedings of the West Virginia Academy of Science."

1917

The outstanding doll collection of the late Mrs. David Roe Zenner (PAULINE SHEPHERD, '17, MA '32) were recently put on display at the Ohio State Museum. The unusual collection of Mrs. Zenner, who died March 1, 1952, contains more than 400 dolls. Including many rare and old items, it is considered one of Ohio's largest, most notable collections. When the dolls began their exhibit early in October, the Columbus Dispatch Sunday Magazine featured the collection in color, its cover and several other pictures showing some of the dolls. Text of the Dispatch Magazine story was by ROSE MARIE PESCHAN, '51.

1918

Word has just reached the Alumni Office of the unexpected death, July 6, of W. Grant Scott, husband of Mrs. HALLIE HOOPMAN SCOTT, Westerville, and father of Mrs. MARGARET SCOTT BRUMBAUGH, '46, Painesville. Former owner of the Franklin Printing Company in Columbus, Mr. Scott had been ill for some time. Mrs. Scott is a case reviewer in the central office of the Division of Aid for the Aged, State Welfare Department, in Columbus. A son William Grant Scott, Jr., was drowned in June, 1950, while vacationing with friends at Lake Oscawana, near Peekskill, N. Y. . . . In the same communication bearing the news of Mr. Scott's death came word of the recent deaths of both of Mrs. Brumbaugh's parents-in-law, the father on June 9, and the mother on August 12. Mrs. Brumbaugh's husband, JAMES H. BRUMBAUGH, BSEd '43, BS '48, is a research chemist with the Diamond Alkali Company.

1921

MINOMA BENSON is in England as an exchange teacher. She is in Smethwick, a suburb of Birmingham, where she is teaching music and English in the Park Modern School. She has been associated with the Marietta schools for almost 20 years.

1922

FRED H. JOHNSON has been named president of the Insurance Board of Columbus. Mr. Johnson is an Ohio University trustee. Mrs. Johnson is the former ELIZABETH ZILLERS, '25.

1923

W. AMOS KINCAID, superintendent of schools in Hempstead, N. Y., has been named president of the Metropolitan School Study Council. The council is described as "composed of some 60 forward looking school systems in the New York City area." Dr. Kincaid's son James is a first-semester freshman at Ohio University.

1924

DR. GERALD H. CASTLE, Cincinnati surgeon, was an early fall big game hunter in the Tetons in western Wyoming. A physician and surgeon in Cincinnati since 1930, Dr. Castle was with the gynecological clinic at Cincinnati General Hospital and the Cincinnati College of Medicine prior to World War II service with the Navy. He was surgeon in charge of a hospital at Kenebo Bay. Following his discharge with the rank of commander, he began a general surgery practice in the Queen City. In 1947 he was named police and fire physician and surgeon for Cincinnati.

1926

ROBERT CLUTTER, owner of the Clutter Typewriter Co. in Charleston, W. Va., has sold the distributorship, which he has owned for 28 years, to the Royal Typewriter Co. and is retiring from business. Mrs. Clutter is the former EVALYN E. WHITE, '25.

Mrs. Carl P. Williams (HELEN MCCLAF-LIN, BS in Mus. '22, and BS in Ed. '30) was the subject of a feature in the Painesville Telegraph which cited her for her "distinctive role in the community life of Fairport." A former supervisor of vocal music in the Fairport schools, she left there in 1943 to do hospital recreation work for the Red Cross. She has also taught at Lorain and for a time was wire editor of the Norwalk Reflector-Herald. But she says that nothing has brought her greater satisfaction than her present role of housewife and homemaker. Mr. WILLIAMS, '31, is acting superintendent of Harding High School, and was a member of the Workshop on Economic Education held at Ohio University last summer. A daughter, Nancy, is a freshman at the University.

1928

FORD S. BALL is supervisor of industrial arts education at Wellsville. Mr. Ball received his master's degree in education from the University in August, 1952.

1929

Mrs. John Heilman (MARY VIRGINIA MYLES) was this fall appointed home economics teacher in the Dola schools.

Mrs. Gail W. Hamilton (HELEN FRANCES WARDELL) joined the staff of the Uhrichsville schools this fall.

1930

ROBERT B. WILL, president of the Vinton County National Bank, recently attended a two-week session at the Graduate School of Banking, Rutgers University. He was one of some 1000 bank officers attending the session sponsored by the American Bankers Association. Mrs. Will is the former HELEN BURSON, '28.

1933

HAROLD D. MCBRIDE is electronics engineer supervisor at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

CHARLES (MAC) BARTLETT, managing editor of the Miami (Okla.) Daily News-Record, is probably breathing easier these days, even though his Brooklyn Bums were edged out by the Yanks for the world championship. Mr. Bartlett happens to be a Brooklyn fan in a territory 99 percent for the St. Louis Cardinals. He made known his plight and urged the Bums not to let him down again in an open letter to the managing editor of the Brooklyn Eagle. Parts of the letter reached Page One of the Eagle, and the paper promised Mac a Brooklyn pennant and two tickets to the series.

1934

MRS. FLORA GAINES CORLEY is a teacher of French, Spanish, and history in the Xenia schools.

CATHERINE F. SWEENEY is dean of freshmen girls at the Birch Wathen School in New York City. Dean Sweeney is a former teacher at the Hathaway Brown School and the Yale Private School in Youngstown.

ROBERT H. HUFENELD (also BFA '47) is operator of the Boulevard Service and Sales (automobile) in Columbus.

1935

WINFRED K. DUMM is a partner in the G. N. Dumm Co., a retail business in Laurelville.

HILENE H. ERNST is a teacher in the Dan Emmett School in Mt. Vernon.

DON E. THATCHER has been named principal of the Douglass Elementary School in Columbus. He formerly was a teacher at Columbus East High. Mrs. Thatcher is the former ESTHER LOUISE KIMBALL, '32.

1936

L. G. RONEFUS, Springfield High School's track coach, has been named director of athletics, physical education and health of Springfield public schools. Holder of a master's degree from Ohio State University, he has been coaching and teaching in the Springfield area since 1936, since 1946 at the high school.

L. KATHLEEN MOORE is teaching in the Lincoln Park School in Columbus.

Mrs. Noel Ratelle (ELEANOR HAZLETT) is assistant women's editor of the Miami (Fla.) Herald.

1937

LESLIE D. BIDDLE is an entomologist with the United States Public Health Service in Mitchell, Nebraska.

EDWARD N. WISE (also MA '38) has been appointed instructor in chemistry at the University of Arizona in Tucson. Mrs. Wise is the former RUTH ELLIN CLARKE, '36.

1938

GEORGE W. PRENTISS has been appointed manager of the Toledo branch of the Seaboard Finance Co. Mr. Prentiss was associated with the small loan industry in Cleveland 12 years before accepting the Toledo appointment.

JAMES A. DENHAM is associated with the Veterans Administration in Columbus.

1939

ELI P. ROMER is a cost accountant with the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. at Apco

1940

IRVIN L. WHITE, JR. has been a pilot with the Pan American World Airways since 1947. Mr. White, his wife and three children have lived in England since 1950 and are now residing in Camberley. Pilot White's latest assignment is the London-Hong Kong route.

E. ELIZABETH HENRICH is a social worker for the Catholic Community League in Canton.

E. ARUNDEL RALPH is personnel assistant in the sales department of the American Steel and Wire Co., Cleveland. He was formerly in the personnel office of the American Air Lines in New York City and prior to that with the Department of Agriculture's efficiency rating department.

1941

MRS. CAROLINE LIPKA CWIK is on leave from the James Ford Rhodes High School in Cleveland and is studying physical therapy at the University of Southern California.

GRANT KEYS of Elyria has been named Americanism chairman for the state of Ohio by the state commander of the American Legion. He has spoken on the subject of Americanism some 150 times throughout northern Ohio in the past two years.

KENNETH E. RUCKMAN is teaching in the Columbiana County schools. He formerly was supervisor-instructor in music in the Kent public schools.

EARL W. MANTER has joined the staff of Smoot and Roush, certified public accountants. A CPA since 1949, he previously was with Ernst & Ernst in Philadelphia. Mrs. Manter is the former EVELYN MARKS, '42.

1947—ROBERT C. ELLIS (right), associated with the National City Bank of New York's San Juan, Puerto Rico, operation, is pictured with Dr. Laurence W. Lange, a former dean of men at Ohio University, at the Ellis home in Santurce, Puerto Rico. Dr. Lange is now with the Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian church. Mr. Ellis has been with City Bank of New York in San Juan for the past three years. Mrs. Ellis is the former Elizabethann Schultz, '48.

1942

Mrs. James W. Love (ANNE L. DAVIS) is teaching in the high school at Great Neck, N. Y.

FRANKLIN J. MALLETT is employed in the budget administration section at Wright-Patterson Air Base. He received his master's degree from Ohio State University last summer.

1943

ARNOLD I. LAVEN is controller for the Barclay Home Products Co., Cohoes, N. Y. He formerly was a junior accountant with I. Polk & Co. certified public accountants in Albany, N. Y.

DOROTHY LEE THOMPSON played the feminine lead in the Rabbit Run Theater's production of "January Thaw" last summer. Miss Thompson (married to JAMES DYAS, '46, director, producer, actor) has appeared in summer theater and winter stock productions in the Cleveland and New York areas, was with Otto Kruger in the Broadway production of "Little A" and in the road company of "School for Brides."

DR. KEITH R. BRANDEBERRY has joined the staff of Holzer Hospital and Clinic in Gallipolis as chief of obstetrical service for the hospital and director of the department of obstetrics and gynecology for the clinic. He formerly was on the resident staff of University Hospital in Cleveland, later was in private practice in Cincinnati and on the staffs of Christ, Deaconess, and Good Samaritan hospitals. He is a member of the Cincinnati Academy of Medicine and has had three scientific papers published in the past three years.

HOWARD C. SWAIN is assistant district manager for the Pittsburgh district of the U. S. Steel Supply Co. Mr. Swain, who has been office manager of the Pittsburgh warehouse, joined U. S. Steel in 1948 after employment with the Ames-Baldwin Wyoming Co., Parkersburg, and the Calco Chemical division of American Cyanamid.

DONALD W. SPEAKS was recently promoted to division controller of the Standard Products Co., Port Clinton. He was formerly cost accountant supervisor with Anchor-Hocking Glass in Lancaster. Mrs. Speaks is the former KATHLEEN BATES, '45.

ROBERT J. KRAPS (also MED '50) was appointed principal of Wickliffe High School this fall. He had been administrative head of the Penfield schools for three years prior to his new appointment.

1944

ROBERT D. STAKICH is president of the Stakich Construction Corp., general contractors in Euclid.

Mrs. William G. McKeown (MIRIAM GARN) is a teacher in the Idaho Falls, Idaho, schools.

1945

ELIZABETH SIEGER has been appointed assistant dean of women at Kent State University. She formerly was on the dean of women's staff at Northern Illinois State Teachers College as assistant dormitory director.

1947

FRANK J. BATTISTI is an attorney with the firm of Kosling and Battisti in Youngstown and an instructor of law.

1951—NANCIE ELIZABETH CORNELL is pictured boarding a Pan American Airways Clipper for her first overseas assignment with the Department of State's foreign service. For the next two years Miss Cornell will serve as a secretary with the American Embassy in Pretoria, Union of South Africa. Miss Cornell is described by State as typical of many young men and women throughout the country now serving as secretaries, typists, code clerks, and accounting clerks in the 300 embassies, legations and consulates the United States maintains in all parts of the world. Miss Cornell was named to Phi Beta Kappa and received honorable mention for the Ohio University Fund Awards while an undergraduate. She studied languages and secretarial work with a career in the Department of State as her objective.

ROBERT BROWN is secretary-treasurer of the Wholesome Dairy, Inc., in El Paso, Texas. He writes that he would like to get in touch with fellow Ohioans in the El Paso area.

DR. ARTHUR H. SHAPIRO recently completed his internship at the Kings County Hospital in Brooklyn, N. Y., and is now a practicing physician in Brooklyn.

ROBERT D. LORING has been promoted to assistant professor of geography and geology at DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind. Professor Loring joined the DePauw faculty in 1948 as an instructor. Mrs. Loring is the former LOIS CAMPBELL, '44.

JOHN L. NALL, formerly with Procter & Gamble, is now doing promotion and advertising for the state of West Virginia.

1948

LYLE V. UDALL (also MS '51) has been named an instructor in aeronautics and technician in the audio-visual service at Miami University, Oxford.

MARY ANN TRIMBLE, former teacher in the Hudson (Ohio) High School, is now teaching in the Hollywood (Fla.) High School.

CLERVILLE H. TAYLOR is a certified public accountant with the firm of Konopak & Dalton in Toledo. Mr. Taylor has been with the Toledo organization since 1948.

RICHARD L. KROLL is head football coach and assistant basketball coach at Brilliant (Ohio) High School, having been named to the post this fall. An earlier Alumnae report listed him as a teacher in the Union Furnace (Ohio) High School.

GRIER S. LEACH, former Bellaire and Huntington, W. Va., newspaperman has been named assistant director of public information and instructor in journalism at Denison University, Granville.

1949

Mrs. Anthony Buglione (MARY AGNES PERSCHKE) is a medical technician at Georgetown University Hospital in Washington, D.C.

JAMES A. FANNIN (also MA '52) is principal at the South School in Wellston, an elementary and junior high school. Mrs. Fannin, the former NORMA JEAN MILLER, '51, is teaching second grade at the Mound School in Jackson.

JULIA PAGE is in charge of a relatively new program in physical therapy at the Akron Children's Hospital. Miss Page received a degree in physical therapy from the St. Louis School of Medicine in 1951.

JAMES A. BROWN is chief service clerk, freight traffic, with the Pennsylvania Railroad at Union Station in Chicago.

JOHN W. COX, JR., is associated with the personnel and student welfare division of Carnegie Institute of Technology. He is assistant to the head of the placement bureau and assistant to the director of admissions. He received a degree in printing management from Carnegie Tech this year and is taking evening graduate courses at the University of Pittsburgh.

RICHARD S. OWEN recently joined the Pomeroy (Ohio) Daily Sentinel in a promotional capacity with the advertising and circulation departments. He came to the Pomeroy paper from the Columbus Dispatch.

C. RANDALL SMITH is associated with Paulins, Inc. (office equipment) in Lancaster. Mrs. Smith is the former MARTHA JO WISE, '50, daughter of former Bobcat football coach HAROLD WISE, '28, and Mrs. Wise (JULIA PORTER, '25).

MARSHALL S. HAMER is teaching in the Randolph-Macon Academy at Front Royal, Va.

FRANK G. THOMPSON is a photographer for the Olin Mills Studios, specializing in children's photos.

WILLIAM G. ELTZROTH is doing commercial advertising and is an artist in the advertising department of Moore's Stores, Inc., in Newark, Ohio. Mrs. Eltzroth was MARGARET R. LOCKEMAN, '48.

1950

GAIL E. PITTENGER (also MS, '52) is a biochemist with Eli Lilly & Co., Indianapolis, Ind. Mrs. Pittenger is the former ALICE BUTLER, '51.

RUTH HARTER is studying string music at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

TAD and SYLVIA DANIELEWSKI (SYLVIA LAKOMSKA) are doing television shows in New York. Sylvia recently made her first lead appearance on an NBC-television network show. Tad is a studio manager for NBC.

CHARLES T. FANEUFF is with Toledo Scale's Los Angeles sales and service branch.

DON HARRIS is operating the Don Harris

Furniture Store in Middleport, a business he opened this fall.

DAVID I. SHAW is assistant coach and junior high school mathematics and science teacher at Barnesville.

1951

WILLIAM J. DRISCOLL has enrolled in Ohio State University following his return from two years of study in France at the University of Paris and the University of Rennes. While abroad he traveled in Spain, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, The Netherlands, Belgium, and England, as well as France.

LISA FREDERICKSON is doing commercial art work, painting and exhibiting in Black River Falls, Wisc. She recently did the decorations for the Grand Chapter of OES in Milwaukee.

MILLARD BIGGS is band and orchestra leader at Lash High School in Zanesville. While at the University he was a graduate assistant director of the all-girl band, and tour manager for the band and orchestra.

JAMES S. PAROBK is practicing law in Lorain. He received the bachelor of laws degree from Ohio State University last June and was admitted to the Ohio Bar a couple of months later.

ALVIN E. LINDHOLM, former assistant to the dean of men, is in the General Electric Co. advertising training program at Schenectady, N. Y.

RICHARD C. BISSETT is band director in the high school at Washington, Ga.

DON E. MCKENZIE is coaching at the Chester High School. He formerly was assistant football coach at Middleport High School.

DAVID WINEFORDNER this year became head coach at Middlenort High School. Assistant coach at the same school is CHARLES L. STANLEY, '50.

The first of what is planned to be annual reunions was held in Athens by Baptist-Disciple Student Fellowship alumni following the June Commencement. Present were:

Mrs. Richard Whitehouse (MARTHA ROBERTSON, '51); MARILYN MCCUTCHEON, '51; MARIANNE SARVER, '50; SHIRLEY STEVENS, '52; ROBERT BEVERAGE, '50, and Mrs. Beverage (ELOISE EDDY, '50); REX HUTTON, '50, and Mrs. Hutton (ANN DRESHER, '49); LOIS HEFT, '50; JOHN HUNTER, '54; ALVIN REECE, '50, and Mrs. Reece (DORIS HARRIS, '49); VIRGINIA ARNOLD, '57; MARIE JEE, '49; FRANCES SIMPSON, '50; SUE STOLT, '55; RICHARD McFARLAND, '50, and Mrs. McFarland (JOAN GIBBONS, '49); ROBERT DOWLING, '50; ROBERT WINN, '50; GEORGE HOUGH, '51; LIEUT. RAY HURD, '51, and Mrs. Hurd (KATHERINE HAWK, '52); AL THOMPSON, '53; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walsh (BEVERLY DAVIS, '50); ROGER BARRON, '57, and Mrs. Barron (MARILYN HOON, '50); ROBERT ROOT, '54; ROBERTA TODD, '50; LUCIE DUFFEE, '26; ETHEL BECKMAN, '21; MILDRED BANKS, '21; MYRTA ASHWORTH, '39; PAULINE FIERCE, '30; RICHARD WHITEHOUSE, '49.

ROBERT E. RIEDEL is teaching at Western Illinois State College in Macomb. He received his master's degree in agriculture from the University of Illinois in August of this year.

1952

Ranking behind Miriam Bower (see picture) for the next nine highest point averages among 1952 graduates were: IRVING STEINHARDT, 3,895; ALAN E. KIDDL and MIRIAM YUDKOWSKY tied with 3,885; SONIA MARIE BERNAN, 3,848; MARGARET C. ERNST, 3,802; Mrs. FLIDA T. VANDYVER, 3,793; HELEN D. HAPANOWICZ, 3,776; REBA PINNEY, 3,774; COT H. GIBBIE, JR., 3,758.

(The following is just a "directory" style report on the Class of '52, but by condensing we have been able to get the most out of our space and give you a report on the occupations of a lot of your classmates. If you haven't yet returned your information card to the Alumni Office, won't you please do so. And please fill them out carefully. Some returned cards have not contained full information on address, name of employer, etc., Ed.)

GEORGE HUFFORD, teacher of science and mathematics in the Verona High School.

RAYMOND E. KESS, junior accountant with Paul Knospe Public Accountants, Columbus.

JAMES M. GAULT, claims investigator with the Industrial Commission of Ohio.

Mrs. Howard Peters (LIBBY MONTICCA), stenographer, Ohio University.

JAMES F. MINOR, accountant, Columbia Gas System Service Corp., Columbus.

EUDALDO CARRERA, engineer, Habana, Cuba.

LEONARD J. BERMAN, graduate student, New York University School of Retailing.

KENNETH E. PRICE, time study, Timken Roller Bearing, Canton.

ARTHUR GERALD DAULTON, member of technical staff, The Bell Telephone Laboratories, Irvington, N. J.

LAWRENCE G. STOVICK, assistant to manager, E. J. Stovick Heating and Sheet Metal Co., Cleveland.

GENE STRINGER, management, A. T. & T., Cleveland.

EDGAR J. ZORN, accountant, Arthur Andersen and Co., Cleveland.

ALEX STEVE, swimming coach, Monroe (Mich.) High School.

ARDYCE S. BOWLING, vocational counselor and instructor in psychology, Ohio University.

MARY JANE MOLER, assistant resident counselor, Lindley Hall, Ohio University.

MARIE LOUISE PHILLIPS, stenographer in president's office, Ohio University.

1952—MIRIAM BOWER graduated in June with a 3.933 cumulative average, the highest scholastic mark among the 841 graduates of 1952 (February, June and the two August groups). Miss Bower is now studying for a master's degree at Columbia University. She was awarded a graduate fellowship by the American Council of Learned Societies. Her subject is the nineteenth century English novel, and she hopes to complete her degree requirements by June. After that she plans to teach.

ROBERT R. SCHALL, engineer with General Electric Company, Clyde, N. Y.

JAMES E. BARRON, engineer, Sam W. Emerson Co., Lakewood.

ELIZABETH D. DAVIDSON, Farm Bureau Insurance Co., Columbus.

FRANK B. PAPARONE, costume designer, Philadelphia, Pa.

MARIAN A. POLLINA, graduate assistant, Ohio University.

PAUL R. PRYOR, commercial artist, Canton Engraving Co.

RICHARD E. WHITE, graduate student, Ohio University.

JOHN L. ULIETTI, architectural engineer with Anchor Hocking Glass Co., Lancaster.

HARRY J. BREZINA, trainee, Chevrolet Division, General Motors, Cleveland.

CASH DUANE RUSSELL, industrial engineer, Ternstedt Division, General Motors, Columbus.

DONALD E. SALISBURY, junior industrial engineer, Alcoa, Cleveland.

AL SCHEIDER, engineer, Lincoln Electric Co., Cleveland.

FRANKLIN A. KOSTOHRZY, mechanical engineer, Cleveland Diesel.

ALVIN P. LEHNERD, electrical engineer, E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co., Gibbstown, N. J.

GUY A. PROIE, engineering department, Proie Brothers Inc., Pittsburgh, Pa.

PHILLIP T. K. CHEN, engineer, Oshorn Engraving Co., Cleveland.

JACK LUSK, engineer, American Steel & Wire Co., Cleveland.

KENNETH R. SMITH, civil engineer, Burgess & Niple, Columbus.

E. P. WILK, civil engineer, U. S. Engineers.

ANGELOS V. ADAM, research assistant in horticulture, University of Illinois.

JAMES E. COCHRAN, radio news at WEOL, Elvira.

JAMES M. MASON, student operator, E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co., Seaford, Del.

Mrs. Robert M. Quayle (HELEN JOANNE FROGALE), society editor, Middletown Journal.

BEN MORTON, graduate assistant, Ohio University.

JOHN D. WARD, reporter, The Athens Messenger at Logan.

CARL E. CUPP, teacher, Carey High School.

SIDNEY A. DAVIS, news announcer, WKBN, Youngstown.

DUANE DAWLEY, graduate assistant, Ohio University.

KATHERINE L. HAWK, kindergarten teacher, Granville public school.

CAROLYN SUE HAMRIC, teacher, Dayton schools.

DOROTHY M. GRIESHEIMER, teacher, Mt. Vernon schools.

FRANK J. GLICKER, teacher, Cleveland schools.

COIT H. GILBERT, JR., teacher, Chillicothe schools.

NORMA JEAN FULLER, bookkeeper, Packard Electric Division, General Motors, Warren.

ROBERT W. FRICKER, teacher, Parma public schools.

WINIFRED A. DIJKER, teacher, Mayfield Heights.

RICHARD W. DOUGLASS, principal, Caldwell Elementary School.

CHARLES R. HOLUB, draftsman-detailer, Euclid Road Machinery.

DUK HI LEE, graduate student, research assistant, University of Chicago.

ANTHONY JANOS, chemist, Koppers Company, Inc., Monaca, Pa.

ROBERT W. HOUSE, chief engineer, Wright-Patterson AFB, Dayton.

WILLIAM D. WOOMER, JR., junior executive training program, A.T. & T., Reading, Pa.

JAMES L. WAGSTAFF, student, University of Cincinnati Medical School.

PAUL E. VOGEL, JR., salesman, College Life Insurance Co., Tuscaloosa, Ala.

JOHN F. MILAR, student, Harvard Business School.

ZELL JOAN ANDERSON, service representative, Ohio Bell Telephone Co., Euclid.

SARAJANA COATE, dietitian, Stouffer's Restaurant, Philadelphia, Pa.

GENEVIEVE BLASKEVICA, registered nurse, clinical instructor, Cleveland.

ANNITA CLARK, investigator, Market Research Dept., Procter & Gamble, Cincinnati.

DOUGLAS H. STEEBNER, civil engineer, Mountaineer Engr. Co., East Liverpool.

CHARLOTTE E. ZIECHMANN, classified advertising, Cleveland Press.

JOHN E. ZINSMEISTER, assistant classified advertising manager, Zanesville Publishing Co.

ROGER A. SCOTT, student, Western Reserve Law School, Cleveland.

ALAN E. RIEDEL, student, Western Reserve Law School, Cleveland.

THADDEUS D. MCGUIRE, student, Ohio State University School of Medicine.

JANE LONG, graduate student, Ohio University.

ALICE E. TILLMAN, graduate assistant, Ohio University.

JAMES F. STEWART, student, University of Cincinnati College of Medicine.

DONALD O. RADTKE, junior civil engineer, City of Cleveland.

FORREST G. POOLE, geologist, Ohio Geological Survey.

MARION PELTOMAA, medical technologist, Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus.

NG CHIAU BENG, graduate student, University of Oregon.

Mrs. Robert Rader (CAROL J. LOVEJOY), medical technician, Fairview Hospital, Cleveland.

ANN HAMMERLE, personnel and public relations, Armaco Steel, Middletown.

Mrs. Eugene P. Elsass (NILA M. BURGER), teacher, Sidney City Schools.

ELEANORE M. BAKER, medical technologist, Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus.

FOSTER G. EWING, microbiologist, Battelle Memorial Institute, Columbus.

MARY ANN HILLS, teacher, Cleveland Heights schools.

MARY E. SCHMIDT, kindergarten teacher, Westfield, N. J.

MARILYN A. REINHART, teacher, Parma public schools.

JANE E. VAN OPT, teacher, Euclid public schools.

Mrs. A. L. Vandever (FLEDA TYNER), teacher, Amesville Elementary School.

HENRY R. STRAUSSBAUGH, teacher, industrial arts, Wilton High School.

JOAN STOFFREGEN, teacher, Cleveland public schools.

VIDA ANNETTE STARIN, kindergarten teacher, Cleveland public schools.

SARA I. SPADEMAN, teacher, Fairfield schools.

Mrs. Duane Dawley (NANCY E. SMITH), elementary teacher, Rome-Canaan schools.

HAZEL R. SMITH, teacher, Orange School, Cuyahoga County.

ALMA L. SHAW, teacher, Shawnee Centralized School.

RUTH E. HORNBACK, teacher, Akron public schools.

GRACE PICKENS, teacher, Tupper's Plains schools.

OGLE E. PENIX, teacher, Canton public schools.

VIRGINIA B. PALMER, teacher, East Cleveland schools.

WILLIAM C. PACE, graduate student, Stout Institute Menomonie, Wisconsin.

PEGGY L. MCKIBBEN, kindergarten teacher, Dayton public schools.

MARY M. MCCOLL, kindergarten teacher, Dayton public schools.

ELINOR M. LEWIS, teacher, Akron public schools.

PATRICIA C. LEMASTER, elementary teacher, South Euclid.

GERALDINE F. JACOBS, teacher, Cleveland public schools.

RUTH JONES, elementary teacher, Solon public schools.

ANNE L. KITTINGER, teacher, Mayfield Heights.

Mrs. G. L. Knight (ROSALINE WEESE), teacher, Glouster.

STANLEY G. ROBBINS, teacher, industrial arts, Indian Hill schools, Cincinnati.

JEAN J. HILLBRANT, teacher, Roosevelt Junior High School, Newark.

THALIA N. GRAMMER, elementary teacher, Victory Park School, South Euclid.

MARILYN C. BROWN, elementary teacher, Gaithersburg (Md.) Elementary School.

CHARLES COOPER, teacher, Perry.

MARGARET J. ROBE, missionary teacher, Lahore, Pakistan.

BARBARA REED, home economics teacher, Lancaster High School.

E. R. BOVENIZER, chemistry and guidance, Bellaire High School.

FLOYD H. DAVIS, teacher, Cardington schools.

ROBERT E. LEWIS, teacher, Upper Arlington High School.

AUSTIN PEEL, teacher, Pataskala public schools.

A. KIMBALL SUITER, band director, Gallipolis city schools.

CHRISTINE G. FRASH, elementary teacher, Malta.

MARION F. HANSEL, art teacher, West School, Lancaster.

KATHRYN HAMMERSTEIN, elementary teacher, Bedford city schools.

EDWARD G. WEBER, industrial arts teacher, Lima public schools.

MIRIAM YUDKOWSKY, assistant director, Clare de Hirsch Residence, New York.

JOHN F. BATES, chemist, Diamond Alkali Technical Center (Painesville).

JOAN E. VANCE, speech and hearing therapist, Lancaster public schools.

Mrs. J. W. Gruher (MARGUERITE HEAVILIN), art supervisor, Homestead Schools, (Pa.)

Mrs. James Euman (CLEYTA COURTRIGHT), elementary teacher, Junction City.

Mrs. William C. King (CAROLE BASILE), teacher, Columbus public schools.

Mrs. Joseph D. Albrecht (VIRGINIA WOODBURN), elementary teacher, Kansas City, Mo.

JOSEPH D. ALBRECHT, industrial arts teacher, Kansas City, Mo.

Mrs. Shirley Belknap (SHIRLEY MUNN), teacher, Middletown public schools.

Mrs. W. Lee Wyszog (LUDITH ANN BETTS), speech and hearing therapist, Lancaster public schools.

Mrs. Elmer Horsky (JOANNE KIEHNE), secretary to chairman of Sesquicentennial Committee, Ohio University.

JOHN C. GILLEN, student, Vanderbilt Medical School, Nashville, Tenn.

SHIRLEY A. SIGFRED, apprentice, Cleveland Playhouse.

—Engagements—

ARDATH HANSEN, '50, women and girls' work secretary, Ross County YMCA, Chillicothe, to James M. Lynch, Jr., Chillicothe, on Ohio State University graduate and salesman for the H. J. Heinz Company. Miss Hansen is the daughter of Einar A. Hansen, professor of education, and Mrs. Hansen, and a sister of Miss Lois A. Hansen, '49, Chicago, Illinois. A brother of Mr. Lynch is John Lynch, '49, Springfield

MARY JANE BASILONE, '51, Cleveland, assistant to the chief dietitian, Glenville Hospital, to C. WILLIAM CHAPMAN, '52, Marion, associated with the Washington National Insurance Company with headquarters at Farmington, Massachusetts. No date has been set for the wedding.

ANN E. TAYLOR, '51, Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, assistant to the Honorable Secretary of the National Conference of Canadian Universities, to ROBERT E. NICHOLAS, '51, Zanesville, associated with the City Loan. It will be a Christmas wedding.

—Marriages—

PATRICIA JEWETT, '50, Cincinnati, to WILLIAM E. CRAWFORD, Jr., Cincinnati, cost accountant, Gruen Watch Company, April 18. At home: 4709 Kemper Ave., St. Bernard.

Marguerite Williams, Ramey, teacher (Brookville), to LOUIS SHARP, '50, McArthur, engineer with the Sylvania Electric Corp. (Brookville), July 12. At home: 320 Jefferson St., Brookville, Pa.

JEAN ANN KRUKENBERG, '52, Sidney, to MAX D. WINAN, '52, Piqua, August 31. Mr. and Mrs. Winan will live at Fort Lee, Va., where Mr. Winan will serve with the U. S. Army.

Nan McDermott, Shaker Heights, to RICHARD ATKINSON, '50, Canton, writer-photographer in the public relations department of the Ohio Power Company, September 13. At home: 1411 17th St., N. W., Canton.

Kathleen Bell, Lancaster, nurse, Lancaster-Fairfield Hospital, to RICHARD KID ZEHRBACH, '50, Mansfield, teacher, Boys Industrial School (Lancaster), June 8. At home: 1651 1/2 Lake St., Lancaster.

RUTH OSTERFELD, '54, Dayton, to JAMES ALGEO, '52, Athens, July 24. Lieut. and Mrs. Algoe are living at Fort Benning, Ga., where Lieutenant Algoe is on duty.

Rosemary Jankura, Cleveland, to CLARENCE M. STRUNG, '52, Cleveland, August 2. At home: 37-B Victory Apts., Columbus, Ga., where Lieut. Strung is stationed at Ft. Benning.

CAROL MAY CUTTING, '54, Cleveland, to JAMES WYATT RICKEY, '54, Rocky River, August 24.

Nancy Anne Nichols, Chagrin Falls, graduate of Hood College, to ROBERT EDWARD JANOCH, '48, Novelty, August 23. At home: Lake Shore Blvd., Euclid.

Marleen Ann Keeler, Mansfield, to DONALD EUGENE LIPP, '49, East Palestine, August 23. At home: 9100 Auburn Dr., Indianapolis, Ind., where Mr. Lipp is a field representative for Lumbermen's Mutual Insurance Co.

MARGARET ESTHER BROWN, '51, Cardington, teacher (Hebron), to Howard S. Keller, Hebron, August 22.

Margaret Joyce Chubb, Euclid, formerly of Manchester, England, to EDWARD ROBSON TOUT, '50, Euclid, August 2. At home: 26344 Euclid Ave., Euclid.

KATHARINE WINIFRED MISER, '44, Cleveland, to George Van Buren Hugo Day, Springfield, Mass., July 12. At home: 331 Devonshire St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Patricia Ann Smith, Cleveland, to JOHN KLECAN, JR., '54, Maple Heights, September 1. At home: 6 B. E. State St. Apts., Athens, where the bridegroom is a junior at Ohio University.

Phyllis Jean Dages, Brecksville, to WILLIAM ALLEN PHILLIPS, '52, Brecksville, September 6. At home: Oakhurst Circle, Brecksville.

DOROTHY H. EVERETT, '51, Fairfield, Conn., to John H. Seirup, Fairfield, Conn., electrical engineer with the Union Spring and Manufacturing Co., (Jersey City, N.J.). At home: 100 Lawrence Ave., Lodi, N.J.

GAY BAKER, '49, Evanston, Ill., secretary, Covenant Methodist Church, to Curtis Stroder, June 22. At home: 928 Elmwood, Evanston, Ill.

Patricia Lee Orcutt, Athens, with the Athens Flooring Company, to EARL HALL FUNK, '53, Athens, with the Lawhead Press, September 6. At home: Cleo Manor Apts., 225 E. State St., Athens.

GLORIA RUTH SMITH, '51, New Boston, teacher, (Jeffersonville, Ind.), to Wallace W. Ruggles, Wheelersburg, August 24. At home: 1440 Grubbs Ave., Jeffersonville, Ind., with the Henderson Electric Company.

PATRICIA LOUISE RALSTON, '53, Cleveland, to LIEUT. JAMES ALVIN BENTE, '52, Cleveland, August 22. Lieut. Bente is stationed at Fort Knox, Ky.

Noreen Gaile Brandt, Spokane, Wash., in charge of the research department in the new tuberculosis hospital at Ohio State University, to ROBERT WHITCRAFT PRICE, '47, Logan, junior in medical school, Ohio State University, August 30. At home: 313 W. Sixth Ave., Columbus.

CAROLYN DEVOL, '52, Carbon Hill, teacher (Bremen), to JOHN B. MAISCH, student, Ohio University, August 24. At home: 10201 1/2 W. Hunter St., Logan.

Phyllis Ann Bell, Marion, with the Howard Swink Advertising agency, to WILLIAM P. SMITH, '51, Marion, with the Ohio Edison Co., July 5. At home: 2791 1/2 S. State St., Marion.

Loretta Dolores Vargo, Cleveland, graduate of Notre Dame College, to JOSEPH S. HORVATH, '52, Cleveland, August 23. At home: 2885 East Boulevard, S.E., Cleveland.

Gloria Markle, Warren, with the Packard Electric Division of General Motors Corporation, to DONALD R. PALLANTI, '48, Niles, teacher, July 26. At home: 425 N. Bentley Ave., Niles.

Phyllis Katz, Cleveland Heights, to ROBERT A. OSTERYOUNG, '49, Cleveland, Ph.D. student, U. of Illinois, August 2.

Lillian Brosta, Cleveland, to LIEUT. EMERSON W. HEISLER, '52, Cleveland, July 23.

MARYANN ELLIOTT, '52, Cleveland, to TUD F. GLERAK, '51, Cleveland, August 2. At home: 5249 Knollwood Dr., Cleveland.

Emelie Clark, Boulder, Colorado, to LAWRENCE PAUL SHAVER, '54, Lancaster, July 9.

MARY ELIZABETH WOLF, '51, Lakewood, associated with the Allied Oil Co., Inc., Cleveland, to Pfc. Robert Taylor Byall, Dortmund College graduate, stationed in Ashland, Kentucky, in the psychology department of the Armed Forces Examining Station, September 27. Ushers: Frederick C. Wolf, Jr., OU junior, and William F. Wolf, OU freshman, brothers of the bride

Mary Ann Nola, Cleveland, to JAMES D. EAGLE, '54, Cleveland Heights, July 26. At home: 1720 Chapman Ave., East Cleveland.

CAROLE BASILE, '52, Parma, to William C. King, Parma, student at Ohio State University, August 9. At home: 226 W. 8th Ave., Columbus.

Mary Elizabeth Locke, Lake Milton, to ELI P. ROMICK, '39, Newton Falls, cost accountant, Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. (Ravenna Arsenal), September 7. At home: Lake Milton.

Carol Elise Klamm, Lakewood, to RALPH EDWIN MEERMANS, '50, Lakewood, September 6. At home: 1607 Bunts Rd., Lakewood.

Mary Helen Wolpert, Steubenville, Madison (Va.) College for Women graduate, to GLENN E. HUMPHREY, '48, Painesville, August 30. At home: Greenwood Acres Apt., Lake Shore Blvd., Euclid.

JOAN McCARTY, '50, New Philadelphia, Cornell graduate, to EUGENE R. GYURKO, '50, Toledo, September 6. At home: 116 W. 73rd St., New York City. Mr. Gyurko is statistical accountant with National Distillers Corporation.

HELEN JOANNE FROGALE, '52, Gallipolis, society editor, Middletown Journal (Middletown), to ROBERT MATSON QUAYLE, '52, Miamiville, news editor Franklin Chronicle, September 7. At home: 104 E. Seventh St., Franklin.

Faye Elizabeth O'Dell, Richmond Dale, graduate Holzer Hospital School of Nursing (Gallipolis), to JOHN C. GILLEN, '52, Wellston, student, Vanderbilt Medical School (Nashville, Tenn.), September 6. At home: 1028—18th Ave., South Nashville, Tenn.

MARILYN JEAN GUENTHER, '53, Shaker Heights, to Dean Clark Ecclestone, Cleveland, Western Reserve graduate, September 6. At home: 231 E. 24th St., Euclid.

Eleanor Wolfe, Bucyrus, to JOHN W. DORSEY, '50, Berkeley, Ill., electrical engineer for the Automatic Electric Co. (Chicago), September 19.

MARLENE ANTOINETTE MALTZ, '55, Cleveland Heights, to WALTER M. MALKIN, '52, Youngstown, September 7.

BETTY LOU ELICK, '51, Sugar Grove, senior, College of Nursing, University of Cincinnati, to A'IC Donald L. Tudor, Athens, July 5.

DAWNA LEE BULLOCH, '55, Athens, clerk Logan's Book Store, to PVT. DONALD C. FLOWERS, '52, Athens, with 101st Airborne Div., Camp Breckenridge, Ky., August 17.

NEVELYN THEOBALD, '52, South Solon, graduate fellowship, Ohio University, to ROGER MAX KNISLEY, Ohio University senior, September 7. At home: Prefab 10, E. State St., Athens.

FAY PICKENS, '42, Reedsville, teacher (Chester), to HAROLD SAUER, '43, Middleport, teacher (Meigs County), July 31.

ANN MANVILLE SMITH, '52, Youngstown, to Lieut. SAMUEL I. SIFERS, JR., '51, Cincinnati, September 20. Lieut. Sifers is stationed at Forbes Air Force Base, Topeka, Kansas. At home: 227 Wedgewood Dr., Topeka.

Mary Jane Lewis, Coraopolis, Pa., to ROBERT T. BRANDLE, '47, Chillicothe, control colorist, chemical division of Koppers Co., Inc. (Monaca, Pa.), August 23. Bridesmaid: PATIENCE ANN BRANDLE, '42. Best man: WILLIAM H. BRANDLE, '49. At home: 267 Wayne St., Beaver, Pa.

Lillian O. Schultz, Germantown, to JOHN J. MARCO, JR., '50, Warren, advertising manager at LeSourdsville Lake, September 13. At home: 622½ Wicoff St., Middletown.

Jane Jenck, Fremont, to MELVIN E. SHELLEY, '52, Bellevue, September 27. At home: 2446½ Lawrence Ave., Toledo.

BETTY MARIE WAGNER, '51, Fairview Park, to CHARLES S. LAMBDIN, '51, Burton, student, Northwestern University Medical School, September 20. At home: 5646 Kenmore Ave., Chicago, Ill.

—Births—

Deborah Lynn to Lt. RICHARD O. RANSBOTTOM, '43, and Mrs. Ransbottom (JACQUELYN C. SANDERS, '45), August 2. Lt. Ransbottom is stationed at Wright-Patterson Air Field Base, Dayton.

Robert William to Dr. WILLIAM J. DONALDY, '42, and Mrs. Donaldy (ERNESTINE BEEBE, '43), 20371 Crystal Ave., Euclid, August 29.

Paul Joseph to PAUL E. BATCHELDER, '50, and Mrs. Batchelder (BARBARA HOPE, '53), 615 Spruce St., Ironton, September 17.

Susan Eberle to Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Huddy (RUTH EBERLE, '33), 517 Moull St., Newark, September 15.

John David to Mr. and Mrs. John D. Van Gundy (MARY ELIZABETH KESSINGER, '33), 1619 N. Columbus St., Lancaster, September 21.

Charles Lorenzo to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Stadler, Jr. (LETA MAE NELSON, '46), 903 Roslyn Ave., Akron, July 23.

Karen Lorrain to WILLIAM A. SNYDER, JR., '50, and Mrs. Snyder (JEANNE Y. COLE, '50), 10204 Keswick Dr., Parma Heights, August 4.

Darla Jean to CLAIR C. DUNN, '37, and Mrs. Dunn (ADELAIDE STRIGHT, '41), 910 Buckeye St., Genoa, June 21. Mr. Dunn is football coach at Toledo University.

William Dennis to JOHN MALDOVAN, '45, and Mrs. Maldovan (HELEN DENNISON, '47), 499 Richmond Ave., Buffalo, N. Y., September 4. Mr. Maldovan is doing promotion work for the Buffalo Hockey Club.

Robert Adrian to ADRIAN F. PILLIOD, JR., '41, and Mrs. Pilliod, 3347 North Boulevard, Manhasset, L. I., N. Y., July 9.

Richard Knapp to Dr. J. BURTON MAYES, '39, and Mrs. Mayes (ELSIE KNAPP, '41), 494 First St., Brooklyn, N. Y., June 27.

Beth Anne to DALE A. SCHONMEYER, '49, and Mrs. Schonmeyer, 4189 Wilmington Rd., South Euclid, August 20.

Karen Sue to BURTON MELCHER, '48, and Mrs. Melcher (HELEN WOODSTEIN, '48), Village Apartments, Magie Ave., Elizabeth, N. J., May 17.

Elizabeth Abigail to ROBERT E. POTTER, '47, and Mrs. Potter (PRUDENCE SCEARCE, '48), 1110 South Foley St., Champaign, Ill., May 5. Mr. and Mrs. Potter are students at the University of Illinois.

Scott Lee to Capt. ROBERT L. STANSBURY, '39, and Mrs. Stansbury (MARILYN A. BOWMAN, '48), 845 S. Arroyo Parkway, Pasadena, Calif., October 2. Capt. Stansbury is stationed in Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

Lewis Harvey to LEN H. SMITH, '40, and Mrs. Smith (ALICE PIERCE, '39), 918 Nancy Drive, Murfreesboro, Tenn., September 20.

Theodore John, Jr., to THEODORE SIMON, '51, and Mrs. Simon (JOAN PETRI, '52), 13404 Second Ave., East Cleveland, September 10. Mr. Simon is a cost accountant with the Lincoln Electric Company.

Robert James to ROBERT C. PFENDLER, '50, and Mrs. Pfendler, 474 N. Royer, North Canton, March 26. Mr. Pfendler is a member of the faculty of McKinley High School.

Kenneth Glenn to V. DANIEL SILLIMAN, '50, and Mrs. Silliman (VIRGINIA SISK, '49), 1065 Cliffdale Ave., Lakewood, April 22. Mr. Silliman is a graduate of Western Reserve University and is associated with the Dairymen's Ohio Farmers Milk Company.

Patricia Anne to D. SHERWOOD JONES, '42, and Mrs. Jones, 2139 W. Fourth St., Erie, Pa., August 30.

Mark Edward to PHILLIP M. DAUGHERTY, '48, and Mrs. Daugherty (MAE ROEDER, '49), 317 Home Park Ave., N.W., Atlanta, Ga., August 31.

Robin Philip to Lt. Col. ROBERT T. ENGLE, '40, and Mrs. Engle (PHYLLIS GERMANN, '40), August 29. Col. Engle is stationed at the Argentina Naval Station, Argentina, Newfoundland, where he is deputy base commander.

Karen Denise to Joseph Cullotta and Mrs. Cullotta (VENETA MASCARI, '50), 221½ S. Third St., Ironton, September 30. Mr. Cullotta was formerly on the staff of the Edwin Watts Chubb Library as an artist.

James Ancell to Major JOHN KINCAID, JR., '41, and Mrs. Kincaid, 4-32 West Point, N. Y., July.

Rita Jean to Keith Glendenning and Mrs. Glendenning (JEAN KILPATRICK, '43), Chesterhill, July 9.

Glen Allan to KENNETH L. GREENWOOD, '51, and Mrs. Greenwood, 27826 Aberdeen Ave., Bay Village, September 18.

Clayton Burdick to Lt. Robert N. Smith and Mrs. Smith (JANE MACCOMBS, '46), September 17.

Ronald Dwight to DWIGHT GOODE, '48, and Mrs. Goode (BIRTHA MAI HALLOWS, '48), 8346 Wakefield St., Van Nuys, Calif., August 15.

ABOUT 1970 David Mark Hostutler should be the answer to any fullback problems the Bobcats have. David weighed in at 23 pounds, 2 ounces when the above picture was taken at six months. Dad is John D. (Jack) Hostutler, '50, former director of sports publicity at Ohio University and sports editor of the Alumnus, now assistant editor of Cablegram, employee publication of the Packard Electric Co. in Warren. Mother is the former Elizabeth Ann Baker, '50, onetime Alumni Office staff member.

FIFTEEN-MONTH-OLD Nancy Alice Maple tries to play "peep" around the camera at cameraman daddy, who is Paul E. Maple, '50. Mother is the former Evelyn Short, '52. The Maples live in Greenfield, and Mr. Maple is associated with the American Pod and Textile Company.

—Deaths—

JOHN STANLEY CLEVER

JOHN S. CLEVER, '49, died August 22 at White Cross Hospital in Columbus following a long illness.

Mr. Clever, 26 years old, was an electric accounting machine customer engineer for IBM in Mansfield. A member of the Ohio Institute of Electrical Engineers, he had been associated with IBM since July, 1950, except for a year when he was recalled to active military service.

Survivors include his wife, June, infant daughter Elizabeth Nan, and his mother, Mrs. Catherine Clever.

LEO JOSEPH FISHER

LEO J. FISHER, '38, died unexpectedly at his home in Ashtabula, July 18.

Mr. Fisher, 43 years old, had been an instructor in Latin in the Ashtabula junior high school for the past nine years. He was a past president of the Ashtabula Teachers Association.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Fisher.

PATRICIA DICKEY TRUSCHEL

Mrs. William J. Truschel (PATRICIA ANN DICKEY, '46), died October 2 in Indianapolis, Ind., following a lengthy illness.

A former graduate assistant in psychology and a member of Phi Beta Kappa, she was the wife of WILLIAM J. TRUSCHEL, '47. They formerly resided in Pittsburgh, where Mr. Truschel was associated with the personnel department of Boggs & Buhl. They reportedly moved to Washington, D. C., in February of this year. Mrs. Truschel, 27 years old, died while visiting her mother in the Indiana capital.

Besides her husband and mother, her survivors include two sons, Frederick Joseph, 5, and Timothy Lincoln, 5 months.

JACK EDWIN HIATT

JACK E. HIATT, '42, died in Tucson, Ariz., May 29, after an illness of nine years.

A World War II veteran, Mr. Hiatt, 33 years old, was a former athletic coach at Murray City High School near Athens. Survivors include his wife, Marjory.

OLAN EUZEDA FRI

OLAN E. FRI, '21, died September 22 at his home in Athens of a heart ailment he had suffered for several years.

Mr. Fri, 63 years old, was formerly a teacher and principal in Southeastern Ohio elementary schools. He was later a salesman for the Rand-McNally Book Co. for 15 years, training supervisor at Wright Field in Dayton for five years, and for the past two years personnel interviewer at the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co.'s Poston Station near Athens.

Survivors include his wife, Irene; a son, JAMES E. FRI, '41, of Mentor; and two daughters, MRS. ELIZABETH WILSON, '38, and MISS LOIS FRI, '41, both of Athens. Miss Fri is secretary to the Ohio University librarian.

GRACE GREENWOOD ROBERTS

GRACE G. ROBERTS, '23, died September 22 in Mount St. Mary Hospital in Nelsonville, where she had been receiving treatment for several weeks.

A former Latin instructor in the Nelsonville High School, Miss Roberts had held a similar position in the Sidney (Ohio) High School for the past several years. She was a member of the American Association of University Women and a life member of the National Education Association.

ELGIE LEROY BANDY

E. G. BANDY, '13, died early in the summer in Whittier, Calif.

Mr. Bandy was general secretary of the Whittier YMCA for 13 years and a prominent lay worker in the Methodist church in Southern California.

His survivors include his wife and two daughters.

Armed Forces Briefs

(Continued from Page 20)

Lieut. John J. Fritz, '43, is a dentist at the Navy Hospital, San Diego, Calif.

Second Lieut. Fred V. Kodes, '51, is serving with the Quartermaster Corps in Korea, assigned to the 55th QM Base Depot in Pusan.

Comdr. Herbert J. Hartman, '35, is with the Navy's Bureau of Ordnance in Washington. Commander Hartman is a graduate of the Naval Academy at Annapolis. Mrs. Hartman is the former Amabelle Haller, '33.

Sgt. Gene J. Rybak, '52, is a communications sergeant with the 95th Medical Group in Germany.

Second Lieut. Sheldon E. Swank, '52, mound mainstay of the 1952 Bobcat baseball team, is with the 51st Inf. Div., Fort Sill, Okla.

Lieut. Gratton E. Coffman, '52, is an Army Signal Corps officer at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

Second Lieut. James J. Cullers, '52, is stationed at Bambridge AF Base, Georgia.

Second Lieut. John W. Beardmore, '52, is at Wright-Patterson AF Base.

Second Lieut. Fred W. Francis, Jr., '52, has been assigned to Warren AF Base, Cheyenne, Wyoming. Mrs. Francis is the former Margaret J. Marshall, '52.

Pvt. John W. Wallace, '52, is assigned to Btry A, 515th Abn FA Bn at Camp Breckenridge, Ky.

Pvt. William M. Miller, Jr., '52, is with Company M, 3rd Ord Tng Bn ORTC at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

Second Lieut. John O. Bode, '52, is with the 509th AFA Bn 3rd Armd Div at Fort Knox, Ky.

Capt. Eleanor Allen, '52, is budget and fiscal officer with the 85th AB Sqd at Presque Isle AF Base, Maine.

Sgt. Harry W. Jones, '52 and Pvt. James J. Dittoe, '53, are serving with the 43rd Inf Div in Southern Germany. The division, a National Guard unit from Connecticut, Rhode Island, and Vermont, joined the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Europe in October, 1951.

The Ohio University Fund

—its growth is essential to a greater Ohio University

WHEN in 1954 your University observes its century and a half of educational service many developments and events in that 150 years will vie for first position in any listing of what has contributed to the University's present stature. Such things of course cannot be measured, one over the other

BUT in any compilation of significant factors in the growth of the University, The Ohio University Fund must be ranked high. In terms of the University, its value is universal. It has served all areas of the University through its aid to research, scholarships and scholarship, students, the library, the president's fund, special equipment, intellectual and cultural life, and to many other needs of the University for which public money does not provide. The Ohio University Fund was undeniably a milestone in Ohio University history

THE potentialities of the Fund are even greater than its commendable though brief past performance. In a few weeks you will receive a personal invitation to participate in the work of the Fund. We hope you won't decline

—buy a share in Ohio University's future—

OHIO UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

Please return this book as soon as you have finished with it. In order to avoid a fine it must be returned by the latest date stamped below

NOON

MAR 6 1987

CF

LF 1 .055 .0552x v.30-32 Oct.
1951- June 1954

The Ohio alumnus.

PERIODICALS

LF 1 .055 .0552x v.30-32 Oct.
1951- June 1954

The Ohio alumnus.

PERIODICALS

OHIO UNIVERSITY LIBRARIES

1002282697

Southeast Ohio Regional Library Depository

Row	Range	Shelf	Pos	Item	Ck
8	18	06	07	02	013 1